ALIIS EXEMPLUM

MOTTO WINNERS. Wendy Fisher, third; Norma Purvis, second; Jacque Ramsey, first.

OF THE NEARLY one hundred entries in the Trojan Seal Contest sponsored by Quill and Scroll, these six girls were declared the winners. They met the challenge to produce phrases to typify Topeka High School's purpose and idealism, and designs that would symbolize beauty and dignity. Theirs will be a lasting imprint upon the many thousand students who will join the endless march through the dedicated Halls of Troy.

DESIGN WINNERS. Janet Hunt, third; Lynda McCune, first; Cynthia Conrad, second.

Foreword . . . . .

HERE IS THE RECORD of another year—a wonderful year for twenty-two hundred and fifty Trojans and their teachers—a particularly thrilling year for the more than six hundred graduates. 1958-59 has been a year of vast strides in science and industry, of great determination to strike the keynotes of world peace. For youth, it has been one in which educational progress has been studied and new methods put into practice. 1958-59 has been a year in which much has been attempted and much accomplished, but everywhere there is evidence that special training, education, and adherence to basic purposes will be a challenge to young men and women. Whether our graduates go into technical fields, become professionals or diplomats, or follow their own personal star, it is their hope and that of their teachers and administrators that in this year they have recognized the meaning of

AN HOURGLASS does not hold enough grains of sand to measure the busy hours that Topeka's school administrators and school board members devote on behalf of the city's young people. We, at THS, unquestionably share the public's admiration and appreciation of their tireless efforts and keen interest.

Expanded tasks faced them this year with the 1958-59 peak enrollment, the need for modern equipment, and their desire to increase teachers' salaries. Two new elementary schools are well filled, Highland Park's annexation is almost complete, and other plans are under way to continue the expansion that has come about with Topeka's rapid growth in the last ten years.

The public school administration and the Board of Education are dedicated men and women who must be able to "sell" education needs to the community. Their office building on West Eighth is a beehive of activity, all turned toward one goal, the giving of the best possible educational facilities to Topeka's youth, leaders of tomorrow.

IF THE BUSY LIFE is the happy life, then no employees of the Topeka Public Schools are happier than Miss Elizabeth Donaldson, treasurer, and Mrs. LaVon Armandariz, Mr. Godwin's secretary and office manager.

SMILING IN THE MIDST of stupendous problems, Mr. Whitson and Dr. Theilmann reflect the all-over good humor that aids in understanding human relations from the administrative point of view.

ALL GOD'S CHILDREN—but particularly All Topeka's Children—are Mr. Godwin's chief concern in these days of growing needs for educational facilities.

DURING THE LAST few days before the new Lowman Hill Grade School resounded to the laughter of happy children, Board members Wertz, Payne, and Rausch make a final tour of investigation.

MEMBERS CHECK OVER a scale model of Topeka West just before a regular Board meeting. Seated: Mr. Schendel, Mr. Rausch, and Dr. Summers. Standing: Mr. Payne, Mr. Wertz. and Mr. Browning, newest member.

Key Administrators Fuse Mechanics with Idealism

SETTING AN "Example for Others" were our school administrators who skillfully guided us through the channels of learning. They earnestly pledged their time and their interest to our problems and goals. We were inspired by their strong leadership and uplifted by their sincere friendship. May they know that this service and inspiration will always be remembered and appreciated.

The many complications of enrollment were capably solved by Mr. Henson, Director of Curriculum. Through personal conferences he endeavored to help students plan their schedules. Mr. Meyers, Guidance Counselor, coped with grave responsibilities as he advised many students on their individual problems, set up tests, and kept records.

The newly created position of Scholarship Chairman was filled this year by Miss Pringle, who resigned her former duties as Dean of Girls to accept this responsibility. Serving as the new Dean of Girls was Miss Aley, former social studies teacher at Troy. She had the added responsibility of co-sponsoring the girls' pep clubs and cheerleaders.

Mr. Bodenhausen, Dean of Boys, counseled and handled disciplinary problems for boys. He also doubled as head football coach but recently resigned to devote full time to counseling.

Through the administration's untiring efforts and kind guidance, under the capable supervision of Mr. Weaver, Topeka High has again claimed superior rank in national standards.

EXCHANGING ideas over lunch is a pleasant way to do the business of the day. Mr. Henson and Mr. Bodenhausen enjoy "the best for the least."

"BACK TO SCHOOL" night gave many parents an opportunity to talk to the Guidance Counsellor, Mr. Meyers, as well as with teachers.

MR. WEAVER shows interest and approval of Troy's new seal designed by Linda McCune.

Miss Pringle, Scholarship Chairman, explains some of her plans to Miss Aley, new Dean of Girls. Much of their work is inter-related.

FACULTY

Mr., Mrs., or Miss, Their Aim Is To Help Our Youth Mature

BEHIND THE seemingly endless hours of class and home work lies the guiding influence in our lives—our faculty. With never-tiring efforts they have led us through happy, profitable years in the Halls of Troy. Helping us as teachers, club sponsors, and administrators, they have become our friends and have eased us over many difficult decisions.

We welcomed thirteen new faculty members to the Trojan family last fall, five in newly created positions. All have spent much time on professional training and in conferences, learning new educational trends and emphases. Through departmental programs and study, and through their social groups—The Guild, Majority Club, and Men's Club—they have become closely associated with each other.

This relationship is being broadened to include plans for coordination after Highland Park's annexation and when Topeka High West is opened in the fall of 1961.

Topeka High's faculty has an unusually high percentage of teachers with advanced degrees, and all are interested in church, family, and community activities.

"Aliis Exemplum" on Troy's new motto is aptly written for these, our friends—"An Example for Others."

"REMEMBER, GIRLS, Don't drink up your profits" is the good advice Miss Phillips gives the Future Nurses. At the Coke Bar are Connie Tevis, Barbara Pierce, and Diana Harrison.

OFFICE STAFF

Close Attention to Detail Helps Keep Troy in Line

WE REALIZE the many duties which pass through the hands of the members of Troy's office staff. They are a busy, dependable, and always pleasant corps of workers.

Phones ring, checks are cashed, questions are answered, bulletins written, and emergencies handled—all as part of the year-round activity in the business and administrative offices.

Nurse Boon is on call all day, Miss Sibberson can locate any student at any hour, and Mrs. Woodburn acts for Mr. Weaver when his duties call him elsewhere.

It is like the traditional Grand Central Station with everything running on schedule no matter what the weather, the activity, or the emergency.

Departments

"We live to learn and learn to live. . ." — Science Classroom

AND THERE WAS WEEPING and wailing and gnashing of teeth! Bob Swan is eliminated from Spelling Bee competition in Mr. McCarthy's junior English class.

HERE'S THE WAY to do it! Sue Wilson gets constructive criticism from Mr. Dickson about the answers on her test paper.

Training, Pleasure Language Arts Goal

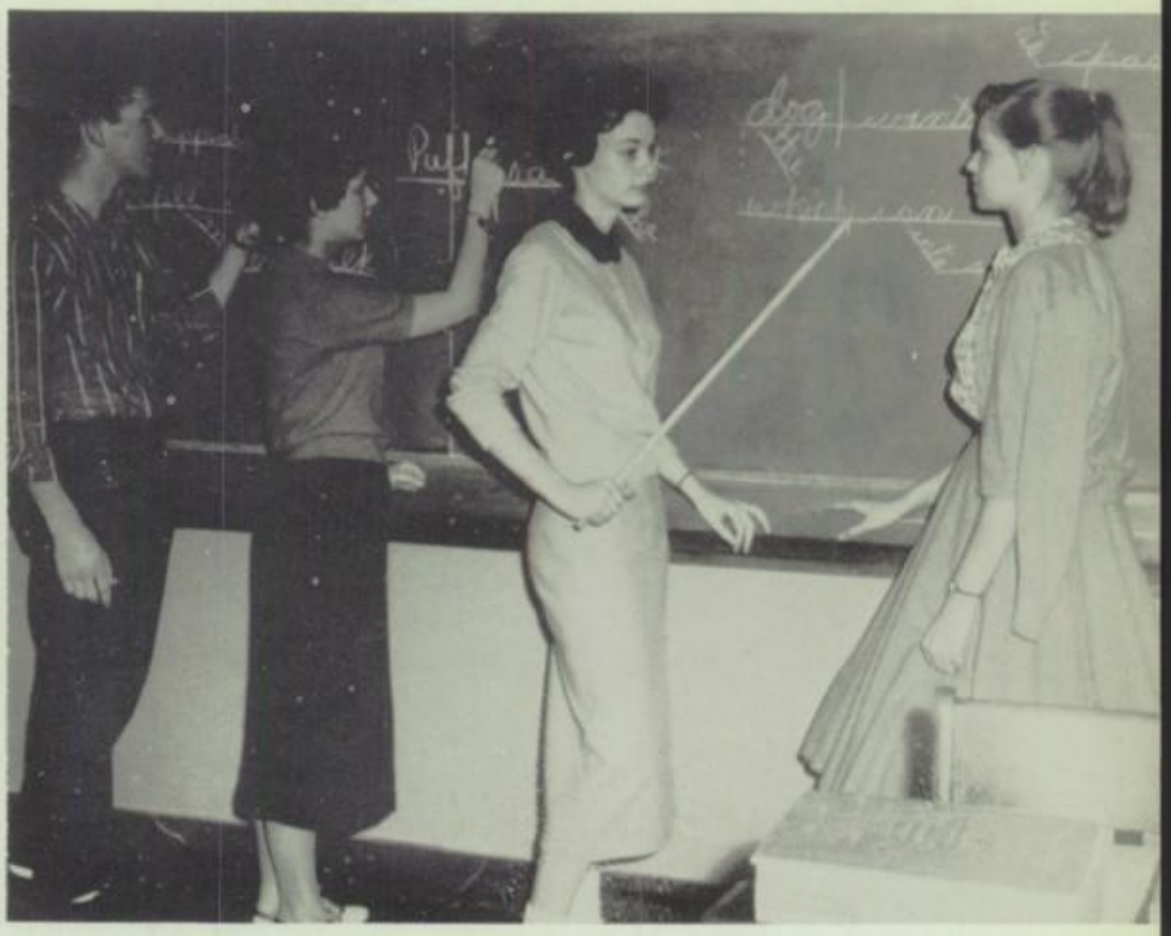
ADVENTURES IN LEARNING was the theme of those enrolled in the various courses offered in the Language Arts. All students completed two years of English, the college-bound at least three.

In a constant effort to provide more extensive backgrounds, some found speech training, play production, and public speaking beneficial in mastering self expression. For those liking news writing there were journalism and staff positions on the newspaper and yearbook.

Not forgetting the importance of grammar, constant emphasis on composition, punctuation, and spelling continued to help perfect everyday as well as literary writing. Comprehensive tests were given throughout the year to measure standings and progress while contests in poetry and essay, offered by civic and national organizations, were available for those with a flair for creative writing and research.

A new program gave students who required additional training in reading much-needed help, and once again the college freshman course in prose was offered to those who wished to step out and forge ahead.

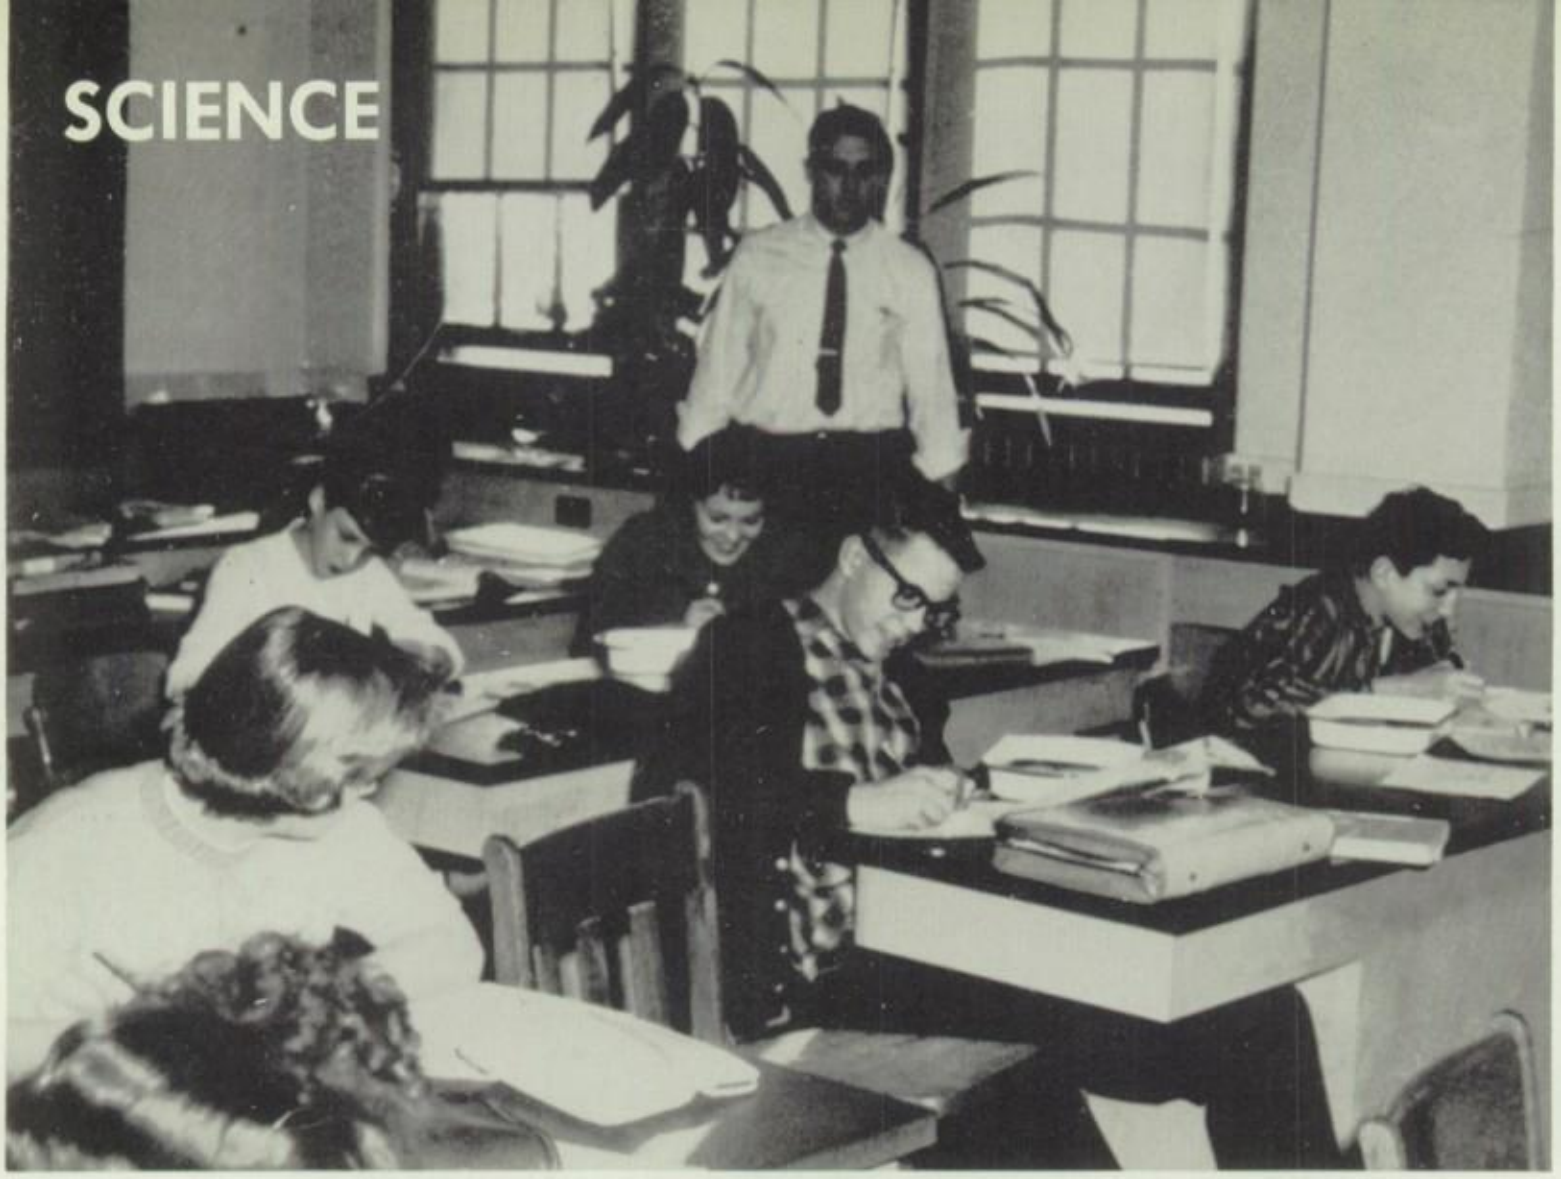
AS DIRECTOR OF the Language Arts for the Topeka school system, Miss Hopkins keeps abreast of new developments through constant reading. Hers is the task to plan for classes after annexation and expansion.



STUDENTS OF SENTENCE delineation busy themselves with tricky modifiers. Steve Nyswonger and Kay Christensen are still working as Julie Elting explains clauses to Sherry Butterfield.

COMPLEMENTARY OR COMPLIMENTARY? Lloyd Fleming has to use it in a sentence as he pronounces the Number 2 word to his fellow-seniors in the weekly effort to be "hundred percenters."

"DON'T CLOWN AROUND" was Bobo's reminder to Mignon Hunt and Scott Senne to buy books from Aleta Petrik at the Paperback Book Fair, this year's big library-classroom project.



BIOLOGY STUDENTS perform an experiment as Mr. Villeme supervises.

'New Look' for Youth Becomes Science Outlook for Future

NANCY FRITTON knows that even one gram of magnesium can make a difference in the outcome of her absorbing chemistry experiment.

TIME, SPACE, and number are three basic elements in an ever-expanding world. The Science Department made possible, through its emphasis, a deeper understanding of the chemical, physical, and natural processes that affect our world. Added to this the study of heredity, environment, and characteristics, and science students received a fine initial survey of what the universe is made of and how it operates.

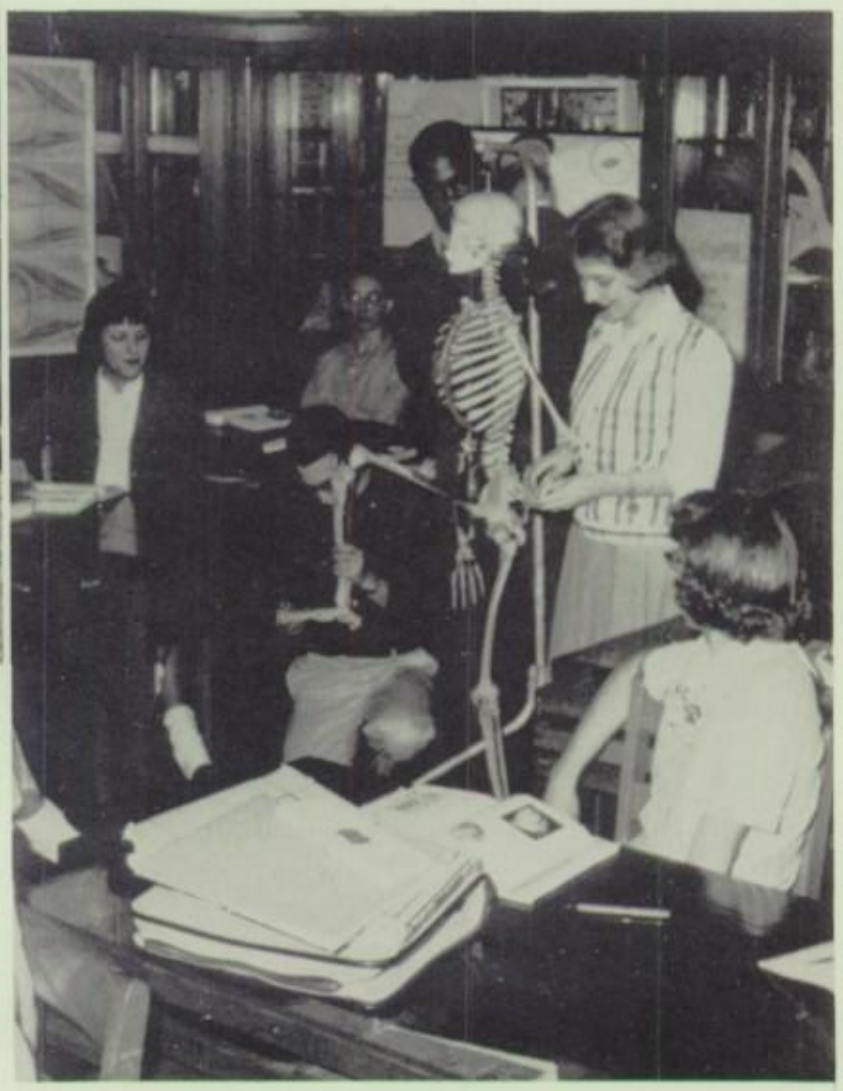
A new and fully-equipped laboratory enlarged the facilities already available to biology and physiology students. Physics and chemistry classes learned to apply the fundamental laws through broad experimentation. Learning about the celestial bodies required hours of absorbing study for those seniors enrolled in the college level astronomy course.

In an attempt to keep abreast of the times, the Science Department molded young minds to the all-important task of meeting the future scientific needs of our nation. Many will go on to college and special fields of training to become "Tomorrow's Scientists."

BOTANY STUDENTS, Linda Miller and David Mlynek, identify a plant from its leaf structure.

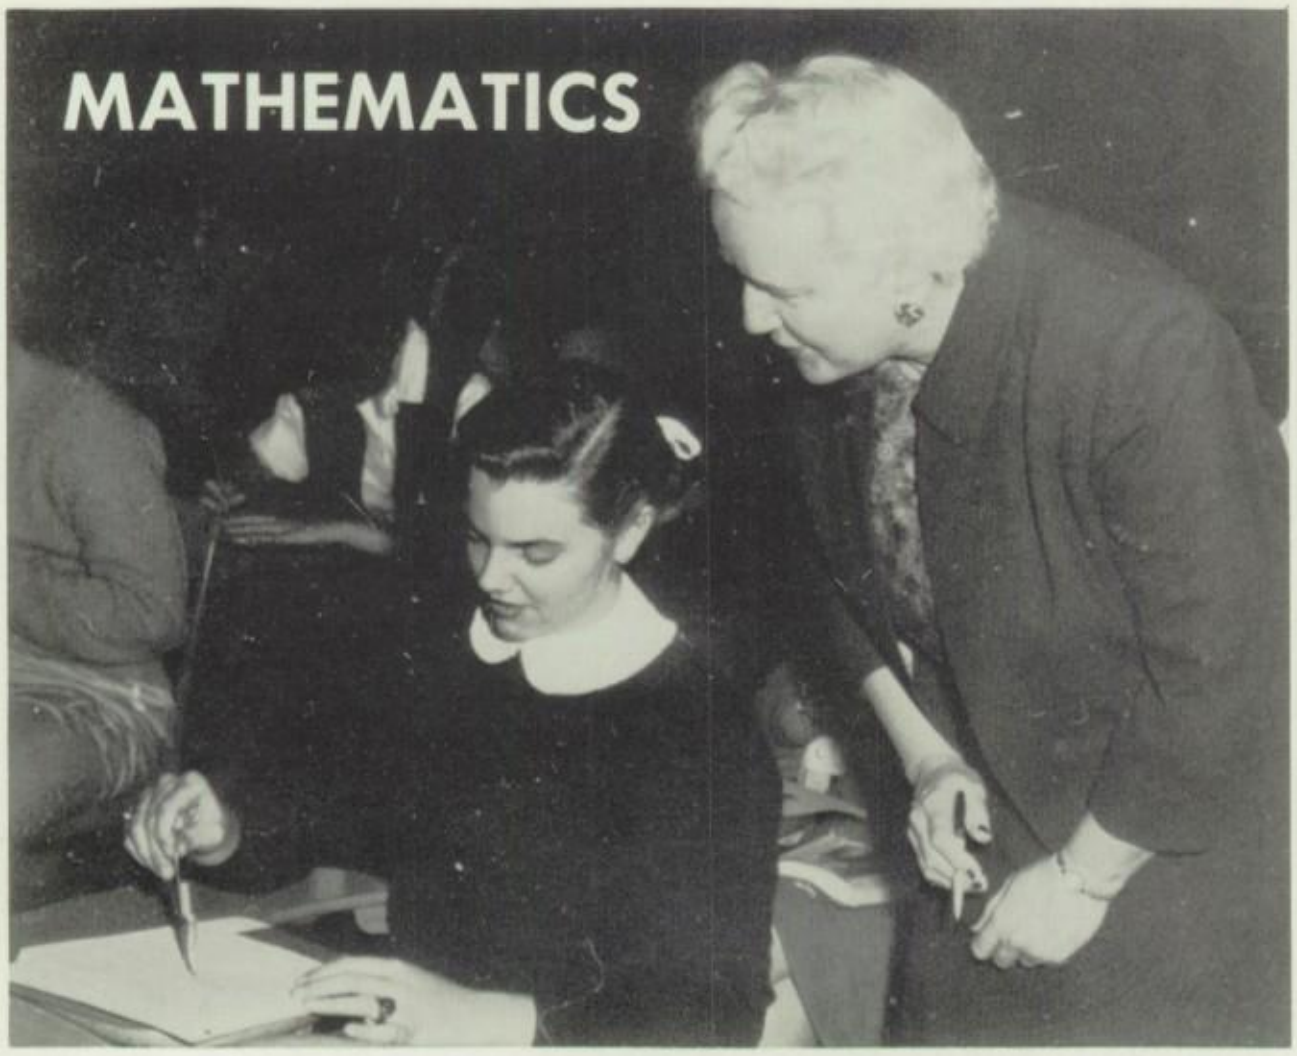
FUNDAMENTAL principles of an airplane motor are explained by Mr. Jones to his physics students.

GARY HICKMAN identifies the internal organs of a raccoon for Mary Sumey and other members of his physiology class.



"FINGER BONES connected with the wrist bones—toe bones connected with the ankle bones" is well illustrated as Bill Mills, Elisha Hurd, and Lois Smith count Mr. Bones's shockingly slender phalanges.

MATHEMATICS



GETTING ADVICE from Miss Henderson on a difficult geometric design, Mary Sue Hill hopes to be able to solve the problem.

THE GIANT TRIANGLE rule comes in for some detailed explanation when Brad Hillrichs shows Jan May and Bill McBride that the problem calls for a six-inch radius.

HOW DID I DO? Roy Ridgeway, Hank Lautz, and Joe McCleskey wait for Mrs. French's red pencil marks to lift their spirits or dash hopes.

GEOMETRIC FIGURES, some looking like Christmas stars, gave clear visual impressions of the three-dimensional study of solid geometry. Here classmates Dennis Downey, John Mustard, Laird Bowman, and Bern Chandler observe Frank Victor, Bonnie Phelps, and Jerry McElroy.

BOOKS GALORE—arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and business math—were catalogued for future adoption study by Mrs. French, Bob Grunewald, Linda Loughmiller, and Stan Swanson. Several hundred books were evaluated.

Numbers Help Determine Directions in Space Age

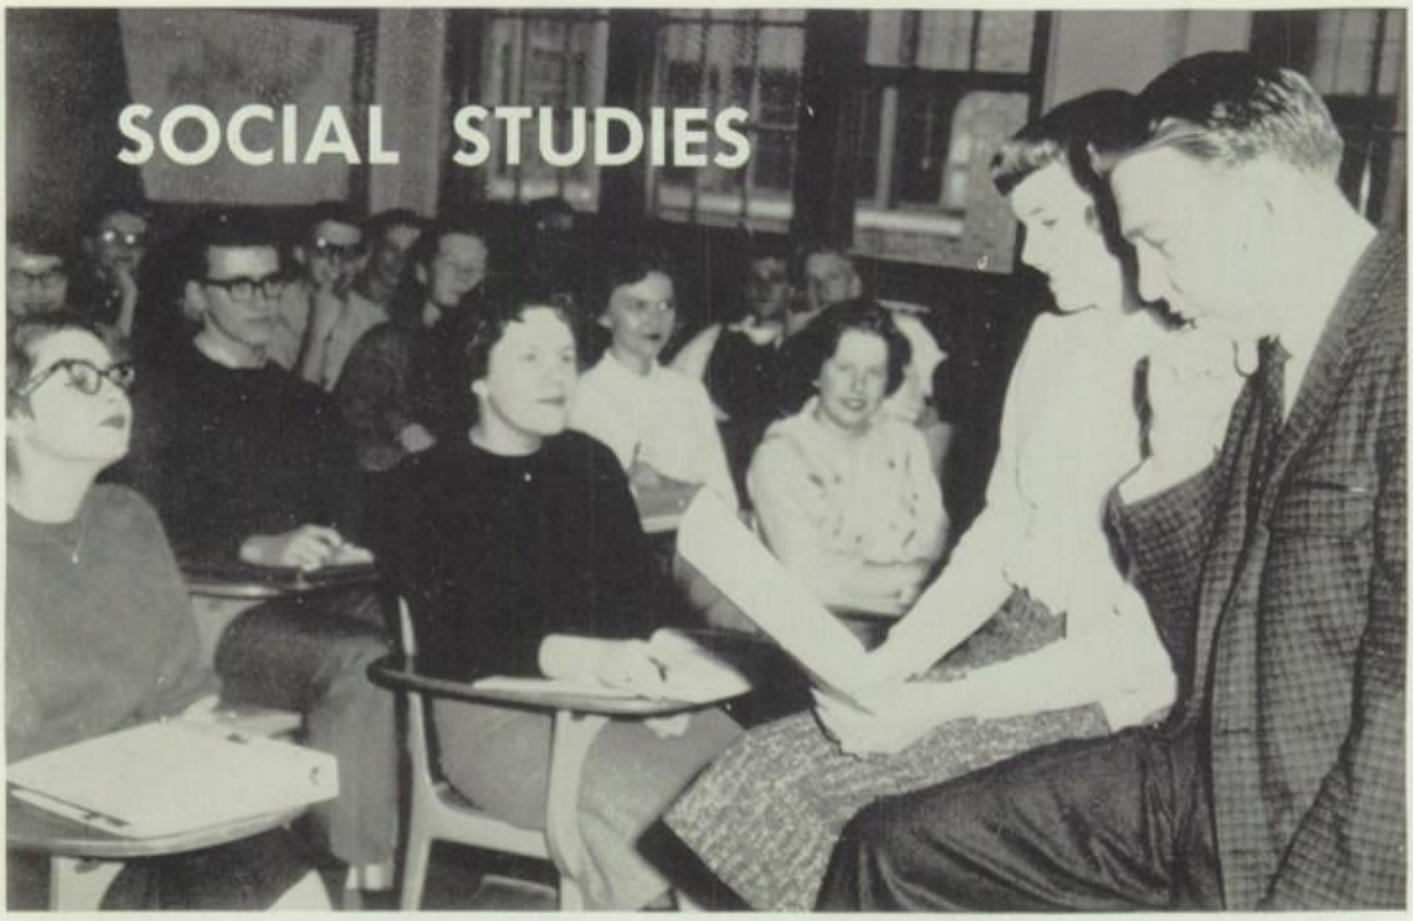
WHETHER OR NOT one is a mathematical genius, each can find certain values in a course in this department. Experience in reasoning and the importance of accuracy are stressed as well as the fundamental knowledge of general mathematical equations.

Along with the sciences, mathematics is today receiving the heaviest emphasis by those who see tomorrow through the eyes of today's youth. Susan Heil and Libby Fry represented Kansas as well as THS at the 1958 summer math institute at K.U. where they had the opportunity to compete with top high school math students from all over the country.

Department chairman and teachers spent many outside hours this year evaluating hundreds of books submitted by publishers for new adoptions. Students were asked for their opinions in a good example of the teaching-learning methods approved by today's educators.

Everyday living requires at least a share of the teaching offered in this department. Learning to add, subtract, multiply, and divide, if for nothing more than paying the grocery bill and the income tax, is a valuable addition to the general knowledge a businessman or a homemaker must have in order to handle personal affairs.

SOCIAL STUDIES



MAKING LIKE a practice teacher, Joan Gray helps Mr. Griffith teach his class in world backgrounds.

STILL A MARVEL to the inhabitants of this old world, it never-the-less is helpful to see it in a model. Viewing it as distances shrink away with new developments are Barbara Neukomm, Arlys Allen, Pat Scott, Jerry Bliss, and Steve Howes, students of world backgrounds, history.

THE GREAT NORTHWEST'S mineral resources are pointed out by Ken Smith to a doubting fellow student, JoAnn Roach.

Knowing People, Places Unifies Ancient, Modern

THE GOAL of all social science courses is to give a better understanding of other people through better understanding of ourselves and our nation, so that as good citizens we may enjoy the privileges and responsibilities of freedom without infringing upon the rights of others.

World history, American history, and government courses trace our heritage from the earliest times and study the making of modern America. Controversial issues of our complex society today are examined in a specialized senior course in contemporary American problems, and world backgrounds stress the underlying veins of international differences. Understanding family and personal relationships is the function of the psychology courses, the final step in the "togetherness" ideal of a democracy.

Inspiring and making good citizens are the most important influences the school can have, because we are truly "Trojans Today—Leaders Tomorrow" in the words of Troy's new motto.

"THE MISSISSIPPI begins here," says Ed Silver, but Buster Elting, Lenora Thomas, and Darlene McCartney seem to think he is little too far to the left.

THE CITY OF CONTRASTS, Rome, is the classic example of culture for Joyce Fink, Bill Bradford, Connie Christenson, and Ray Barber as Mrs. McCormick explains the ancient ruins to them and the class.

DEBATE

SCOREBOARD

PRIDE AND JOY of the experienced debaters was this display of "top brass." Combining efforts to garner it were Tom Beisecker, Mike McCabe, Bob Dolgolf, Patty Cain, Margie Ives, Terry Smith, Henry Heibert, Tom Hamilton, Jo Ann Marshall, Don Pfuetze, Jeff Manley, Martha Peach, Jean Eberhart, Phyllis Garnett, Sherrie Smelser, Marilyn Nolan, Susan Heil, and Jon Ekdahl. Room in display cases is at a premium now.

"AND SO, we find . . ." Jon Ekdahl quotes his best authority, Dr. Conant, on school problems.

DR. JAMES CONANT, international authority on the "new look" in American education, was a speaker in Topeka in February.

Hard Work Pays Off in Well Directed Oratory

SYNCHRONIZING minds, material, and pleasing personalities, Trojan debaters once again reaped outstanding records in their competitive rounds with pro and con cases on the national topic of the year. "Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education" was a particularly timely question.

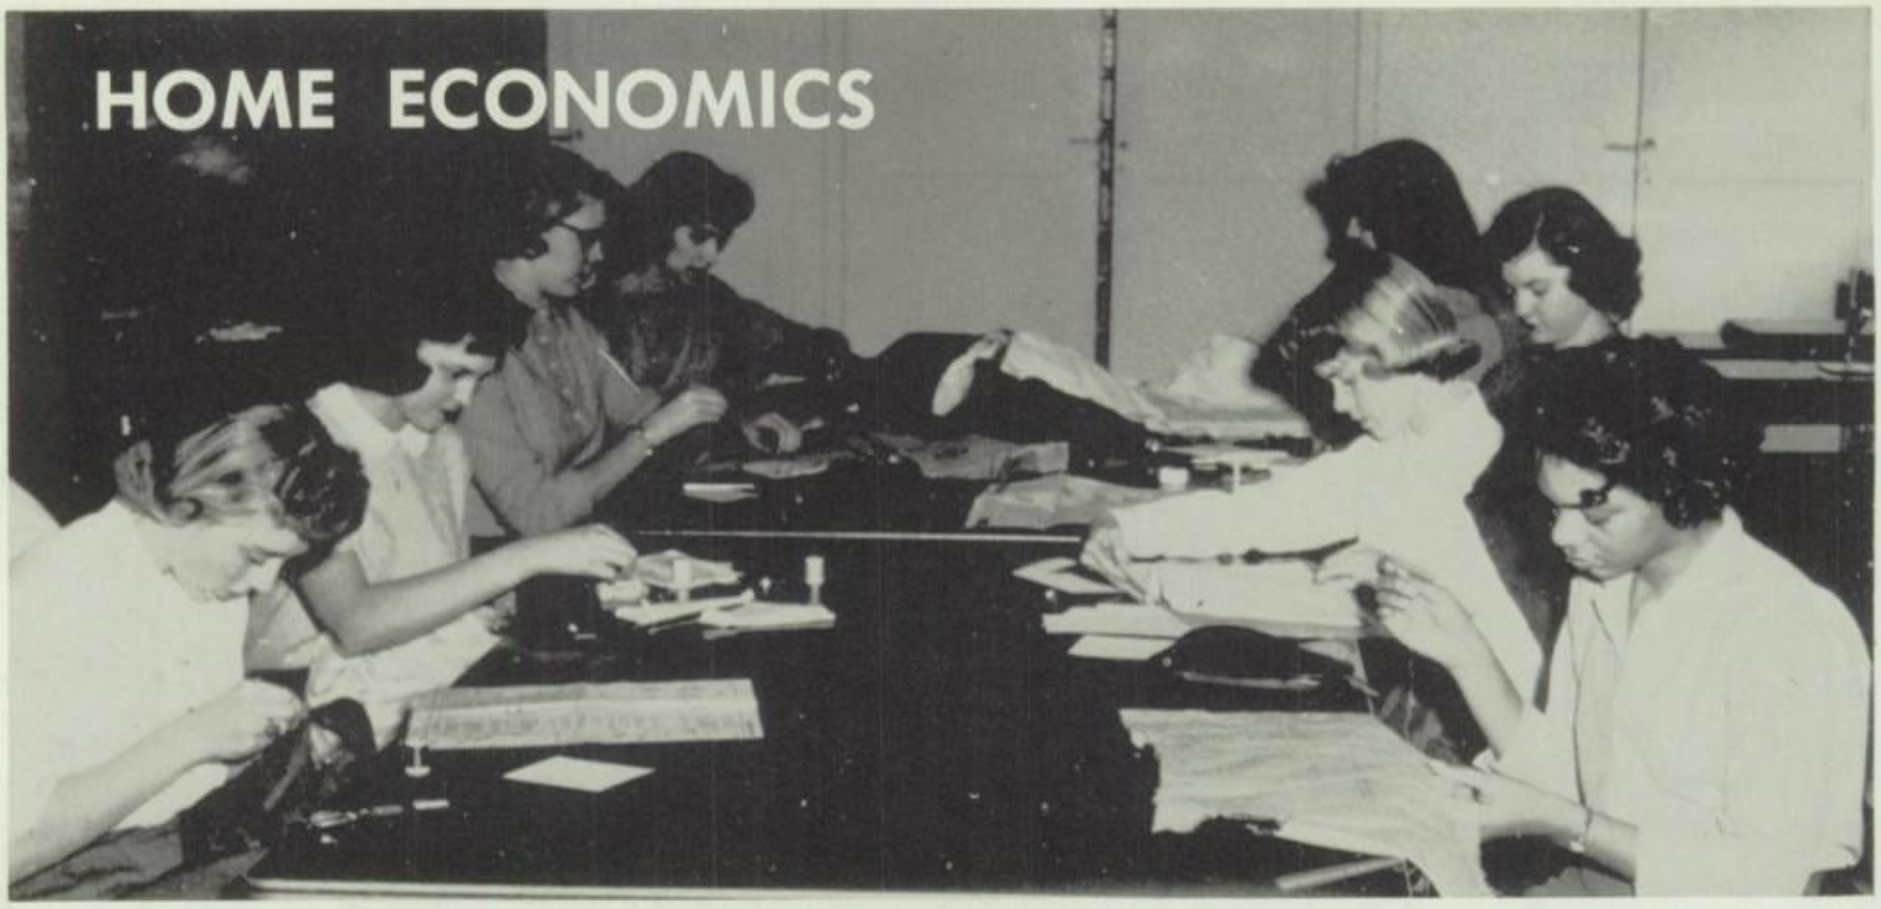
The long hours of patient research and constant practice in delivery rewarded debaters with a successful season as they claimed six trophies at various tournaments across the state. Under the able coaching of Mr. Hill, the official orators of Troy won a proud third in the district contest at Emporia State Teachers College.

The confidence of their parents, the pride in their school, and the enthusiasm of friends accompanied them as they went into the rounds of the timed arguments at meets all across the circuit of the Kansas plains.

Debating also continued its fine traditions with the largest National Forensic League chapter in the state this year.

RARIN' TO GO! Tom Hamilton, Jo Ann Marshall, Marilyn Nolan, and Tom Beisecker leave the west doors for the long trek to their opponent's home grounds in quest of "Oscars."

HOME ECONOMICS



"PIN SEAMS AND BASTE." Busily carrying out their instructions are Marjorie Holyoke, Mary Erickson, Jean Peterson, Carol Stover, Kathy Bonner, Eleanor Nelson, Karen Akerstrom, and Carolyn Wims.

YUM YUM! DELICIOUS! This cherry pie made Yvonne Bowen first place winner in a county bakeoff and holder of a state award as the "Pie-Baker with a Future"

A HOUSE BECOMES a home with a woman's touch—and a dustcloth. Putting the model apartment in order are Janice Richardson, Joleen Johnson, Connie Horne, novice homemakers.

Universe Revolves on Core of Home, Family

FROM THE SKILLFUL hands of tomorrow's homemakers will come the chic fashions of the day, delicasies to delight the heart of any gourmet, all combined with the capabilities needed to found happy homes.

Those who felt the creative urge exhibited their talents first through practical sewing, then in wardrobe planning and fashion design. Students in foods classes preceded an advanced study after basic work in dietetics, meal planning, and kitchen techniques. Homemaking courses met needs for the other home arts, and all emphasized the relationship of the homemaker to her place in society.

An essential purpose in the field of home economics was ECONOMY, the instilling in each girl of a respect for the value of time and the careful management of her hours to coordinate her responsibilities to her family, to her community, and to herself.

"HASTE MAKES WASTE," especially at the sewing machine, as Susan Nash, Marilyn Peterson, and Phyllis Jones have learned.

WATCH A POT hard enough and it is bound to boil. Intent on their work are Judy Brown, Carol Wilson, Charlotte Elnicki, Mrs. Butler, Mary Landon, and Dawna Hancock. All are in a first year foods class.

ADMIRING Carol Manlove's party dress are Mary Packard and Naomi Davis as they await their turn to model their newly made outfits and accessories.

ART, CRAFTS

THE ADVANCED painters work diligently on layouts in commercial art study. Here are Jan Shapiro, Dee Dee Watts, Tracy Campbell, Gary Hayes, Gayla Hastings, Roberta Smith, Marilyn Frye, and Jean Eberhart.

REVIVING in modern dress the art that the American Indians excelled in, Dave Baxter and Pat Scott work on a silver ring.

ANOTHER TREND in the creative arts, Italian mosaics, opens new doors for design and craftsmanship. Steve Brownell and Jayne Wanamaker complete a wall decoration in soft tones of gray and aqua on white.

'Create and Satisfy' Is Aim of Artisans

FEELING CAN BE expressed in many ways and one of the most imaginative is work in the Art Department. Students try to interpret themselves in painting, designing, lettering, illustrating, layout work, weaving, leather tooling, wood carving, ceramics, mosaics, silver and copper smithing, and costume designing or in combinations.

Projects for the school were assigned to the various classes and included window displays, posters, stage effects, and program covers. One group of students took over the design for the new Trojan seal and came up with a winner.

A new program was started last fall wherein students enrolled in first year art had in their schedules twelve weeks of painting under Mr. Nelson, twelve weeks of crafts under Mrs. Wolfe, and twelve weeks of ceramics under Mr. Newby. This gave them a fine survey of many art media and specialization can follow next year in more advanced courses.

With its fine gallery facilities and its many local, state, and national art shows, THS boasts a rare and enviable cultural highlight to add to its diversified academic curriculum.

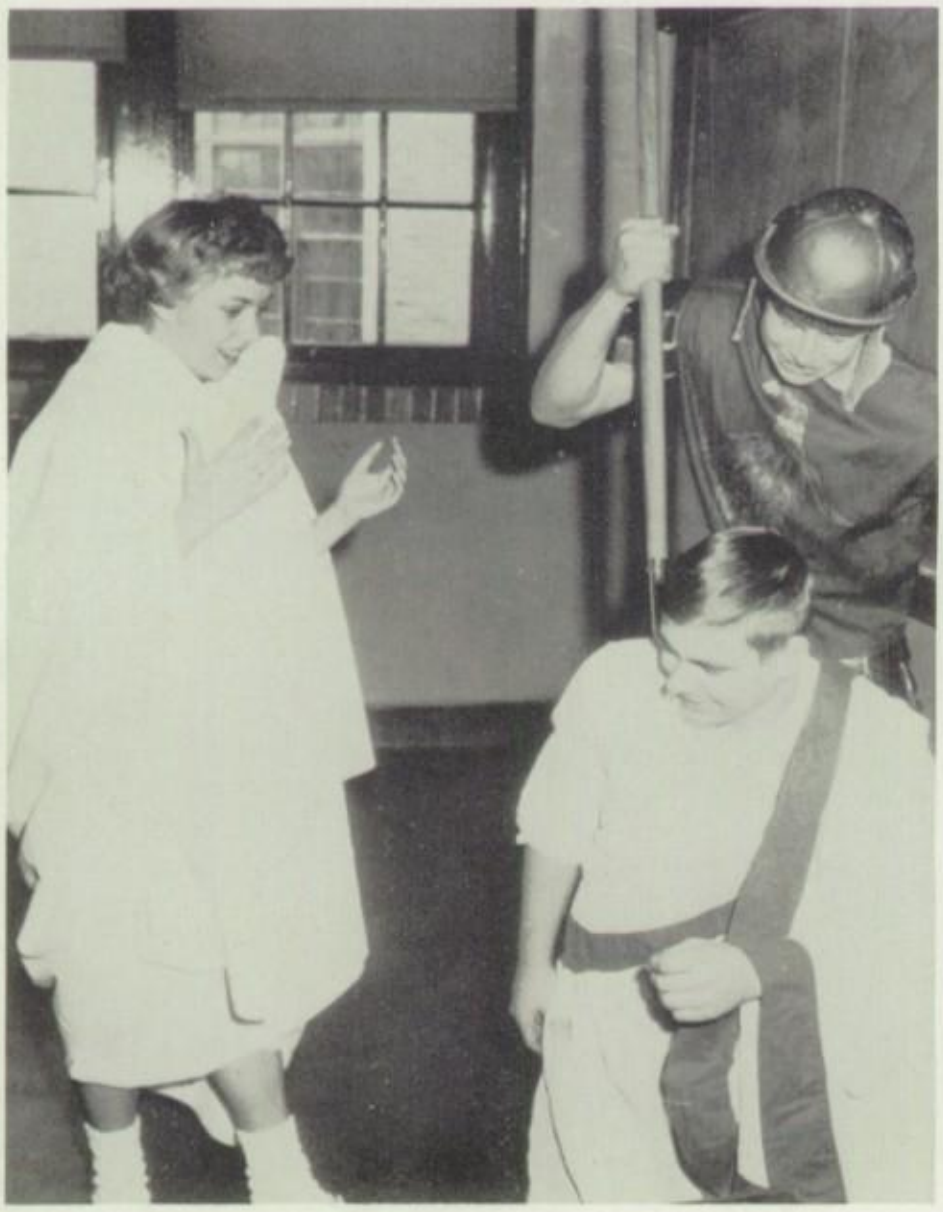
STILL LIFE PAINTING of everything from bottles to books and gourds to galoshes was fun for students in Mr. Nelson's advanced classes who were studying composition.

WEAVING satisfies the creative urge of April Sourk and Myrna Hermann as they design a place mat.

SILVERSMITHS Reva Webb, Dick Moore, and Freddy Weidling make jewelry as part of their artcrafts work under Mrs. Wolfe's supervision.

LOST IN A DREAM of "la vie extraordinaire" in Gay Paris are Latin students Adelia Deffenbacher, Frank Keller, Bill Davis, and Margaret Bachman as they make themselves at home in the French class.

"ET TU, BRUTE!" Mary Newman cringes as she watches Dave Crandall plunge the dagger into "Caesar" Luttjohann's heart.



Study Opens Way to Peace in Our Times

IN THIS AGE of space-conquering that is resulting in a shrinking world, the understanding of different cultures is essential. In foreign languages students not only learn to speak and read but they gain insight into other cultures.

In the first year the basic structure and vocabulary of Latin, French, or Spanish are emphasized. This develops in the next years as deeper fundamentals are studied and extra reading begun in both the classic and modern works.

"Io Saturnalia," "Joyeux Noel," and "Feliz Navidad" all ended in "Merry Christmas" at the carol sing of the three divisions. This combined class effort was the winter highlight of the department program as was the Beaux Arts Ball a memorable event of the spring semester.

Educators believe that world peace can be better accomplished through the development of language skills, a step to greater unification among nations. If that is so, then Troy is doing its part to help make this "One World."

MEMORIES OF EXCITING VISITS to "South of the Border" countries are revived as Mary McKenney, Carol Laney, and Bernard Hurd admire some Mexican souvenirs belonging to Mr. Montes.

MAPA DE MEXICO is under surveillance by Lael Shartz, Jean Balmat, Glenn Pinkston, and Roberta Smith as Pam Hill points out the route from Galveston to our Latin-American neighbors, subjects of class study.

"READY—GET SET—GO!" and the class in typing is off on a race against two demons, Time and Accuracy.

LEARNING THE KEYBOARD is the first step toward a skill that is taking its position along with readin', writin', and 'rithmetic. Janie Shields, John Mustard, and Dave Glendenning are the typing novices who hope soon to be clicking away "with the greatest ease."

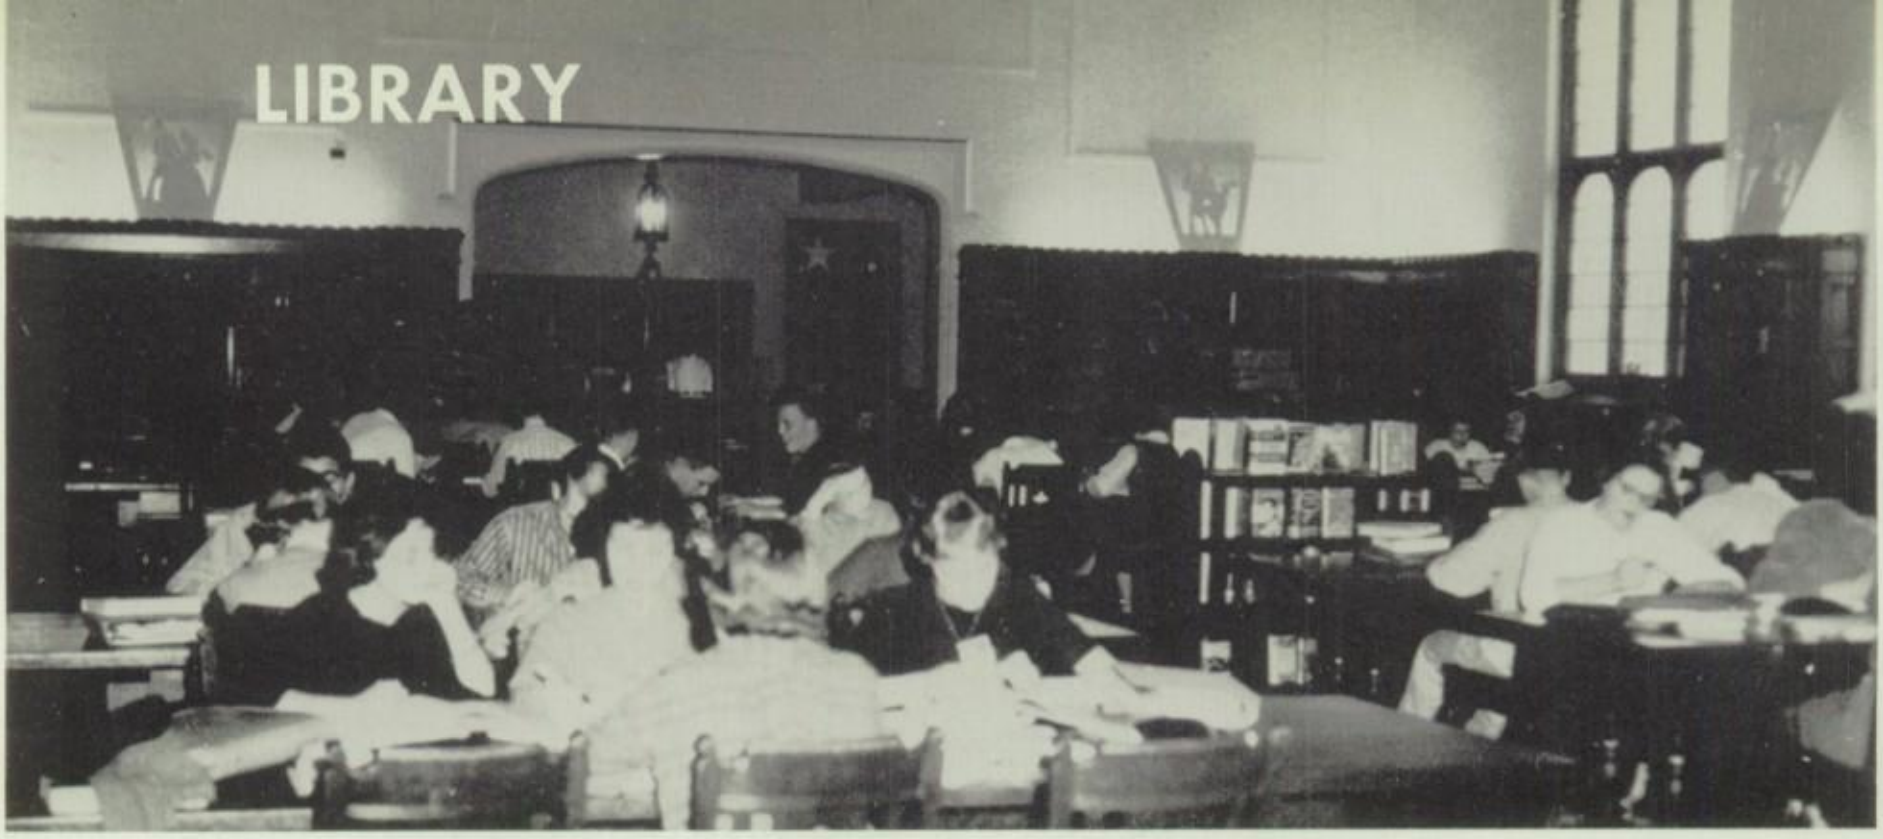
Intensive Work Helps Trainees Reach Goals

CLICK-CLACK-CLACK went the typewriters last fall and by the end of the first semester the clicks became a steady hum as proficiency increased. The business department at Topeka High plays an important role in training students in precision office work, selling and secretarial techniques, and in general employee-employer relationships.

Classes in typing have been crowded because all students are more than ever aware of the advantages of easily read work in all educational pursuits. The need to keep personal accounts, fill in tax reports, and know legal regulations steered many into bookkeeping and business law.

Office managers are interested in operators for many new time-saving machines and the business student who is adept in their operation knows there is a fine chance for advancement. Shorthand still has top priority for the well trained general secretary and classes were full of students learning to transform "chicken tracks" into words of wisdom, and vice versa.



HITTING the Books—Prelude to Exams.

Circulation Records Prove 'Johnnies' at Troy CAN Read

"BOOKS ARE THE WINDOWS through which the soul looks out." Searching to satisfy their inquiring minds, Trojans came through Gateways of Learning in quest of Shakespeare and Tom Sawyer, atoms and space rockets, and the charms of foreign lands with their interesting peoples.

Interest was fanned during Book Week with the introduction of a paperback Book Fair where students had the opportunity to purchase "additions of editions" to add to their personal libraries. Through a nationwide project of CARE, "Operation Bookstrap," Trojans made possible the realization of a library for an English-speaking school in Hong Kong. We were especially honored by being selected to participate in the Traveling High School Science Library of 200 new books.

Records show that more books circulated, more students visited, and more purchases were made than ever in the past. The quiet yet friendly atmosphere was a real lure to learning.

I.Q. GOING UP! Taking advantage of helpful references are Jim Viergever, Hutch Milburn, George Franklin, at the card and pamphlet files.

SERVING as valuable aids for Trojans are library proctors Penny Comfort, Joyce Sayler, and Verna Frazer who profit as they assist.

Round-the-Year Classes Make Use of Facilities

FIVE DAYS A WEEK, the doors of Troy close behind hundreds of students, only to reopen a few hours later to the inquiring minds of eager adults. Night school is a beneficial service offered to the public in which not only may a high school education be completed but also many may receive more specialized training in specific fields of academics, mechanics and the arts.

College and business training, homemaking skills, art, and self-improvement are included in the courses offered in the adult school training program. Many of our faculty members double as night school instructors using Troy's daytime facilities to fine public advantage.

In late May the doors close behind another successful year at Troy only to reopen to eight weeks of summer school, another chance to broaden horizons of learning and start new paths toward knowledge. During this time, students may pick up or earn extra credits for high school graduation. Teachers from the regular faculty teach English, American government and history, typing, biology, and drivers education as part of the curriculum.

True Notes, Sweet Songs, Atmosphere Stamp Vocal Groups as Real A-1's

GOLD STOLES on black robes inspired admiration as the Trojan choir sang before many Topeka audiences. This largest mixed voice group at THS, under Mr. Fly's direction, appeared at civic and church meetings in addition to performing at various school programs.

They lent a festive note to the holiday season with their carolling through the halls.

Individual members and groups entered the spring festivals, returning with honors in their respective fields.

The highest vocal honor at Troy is membership in the Madrigals. Their a cappella repertoire included old European melodies, Negro spirituals, folk songs, show tunes, and popular numbers. The banquet table and formal attire gave the Madrigals an appealing charm suited to their talents and to the fine traditions.

MADRIGALS find it takes many hours of diligent practice to perform well. With Director Fly, they get a real workout every day.

ENSEMBLES

Listeners and Singers All Gain Satisfaction

"MUSIC IS SOMETHING to be shared," insists Mr. Fly, director and sponsor of the vocal clubs and ensembles. This was proved all year by students who gave time to many class and extra practices preparing for assemblies as well as service club and special guest appearances. They also devoted weeks of practice for the operetta, their Music Festival numbers, and the spring concerts for parents and friends.

The Glee Clubs, The Trojanaires, and the Boys' Quartette appeared more times this year than ever before. Not only did they sing in the Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter assemblies but they also appeared in programs of a lighter mood. The Girls Glee Club thrilled the audiences with "Showboat Melody" while the Boys Glee Club was enthusiastically received in everyone's favorite, "Get Me to the Church on Time" from "My Fair Lady," the Broadway smash hit.

Their apparent enjoyment of their efforts was proof that "Music IS something to be shared."

'Music Hath Charms' To Sooth Or Enliven the Trojan Spirit

DUO PIANISTS, Myrna and Verna Frazer, practice "Carnival of the Animals," for the "Pop" concert.

PLAYING ON THE STRINGS of Trojan hearts this year was Topeka High's 37-piece orchestra They presented a wide variety of classical and popular music to delight audiences at school assemblies, the operetta, the junior highs, and the spring concert.

Tuning up for the year, they took the downbeat for the first time at the Pop Concert in the fall. A receptive audience showed them the long hours of practice were recognized and appreciated.

Graduates of the past four years were invited back to play two numbers in "When the Christ Child Came," the music department's Christmas cantata.

Orchestra members attended several music festivals, including the district and state, where their versatile accomplishments were well rewarded with top honors. The String Ensemble and other orchestral groups were selected to participate in specialty numbers and programs by invitation from clubs and civic groups.

For the first time this year, a city-wide orchestra clinic was organized with Topeka High serving as the nucleus. It gave younger Topekans an opportunity to work for greater skill in their special fields. From such interests, the city's Youth Symphony is in the process of development under Mr. Hallman's direction.

The climax to a successful year came with the spring concert at the KSTA building, and their grande finale will be heard by seniors and their parents at the annual graduation vesper service.

MARCHING ALONG in precision time, under the direction of able musicians and led by peppy batoneers, the Trojan Band exemplified the great traditions and spirit of Topeka High to both students and the public.

They displayed their various talents with classical and modern numbers by performing in parades, assemblies, half-time ceremonies, and formal concerts. Choosing for their setting football fields, boulevards, or footlighted stage, they exhibited abilities that stamped them as versatile musicians.

With new uniforms still spic and span, Troy's band was honored by being selected to represent Kansas from among the high schools of the state as the Band of the Year, and to participate in the half-time ceremonies at Homecoming at Kansas State College.

For most performances the one hundred members worked together, but for home basketball games where space was limited, they were divided into the Black and the Gold Bands, playing at alternate events.

Troy Takes Sprightly Cues from Colorful and Pleasurable Extras

ENTHUSIASTIC MAJORETTES stepped high and fancy to lead the Trojan band in parades and half-time ceremonies. These seven girls in white uniforms with gold and black trim, made an impressive sight as they twirled batons and led the band through intricate drills. Their precision routine kept all in stride.

Any mood of music—gay, mystic or melancholy—could be created by the Topeka High School Dance Band. Their professional touch was learned from Mr. George Neaderheiser during the fifth hour, their regular study hall period. From these "jam sessions" came the appealing dance music Trojans enjoyed.

Fun and Competition Spark Sports Program

ALL WORK and no play makes for a very dull day. The objectives of physical education were knowledge and habitual performance of safety, physical skills, and first aid; desirable personal health habits; development of a well-rounded personality; and fun for everyone.

The first and required year of gym for the girls was spent playing field hockey, basketball, volleyball, deck tennis, archery, and tumbling. Second-year girls participated in tennis, bowling, badminton, fencing, and modern dance.

The boys' sports consisted of football, soccer, softball, track, wrestling, basketball, handball, workouts on the new trampoline, and gymnastics.

Dry-land physical education was varied with swimming classes alternating every other day over a period of nine weeks.

The Senior Leader program was offered for those interested in taking third-year gym. They not only helped the teachers immensely but they had chances to develop leadership abilities.

SARA DAVIS flies high on the trampoline.

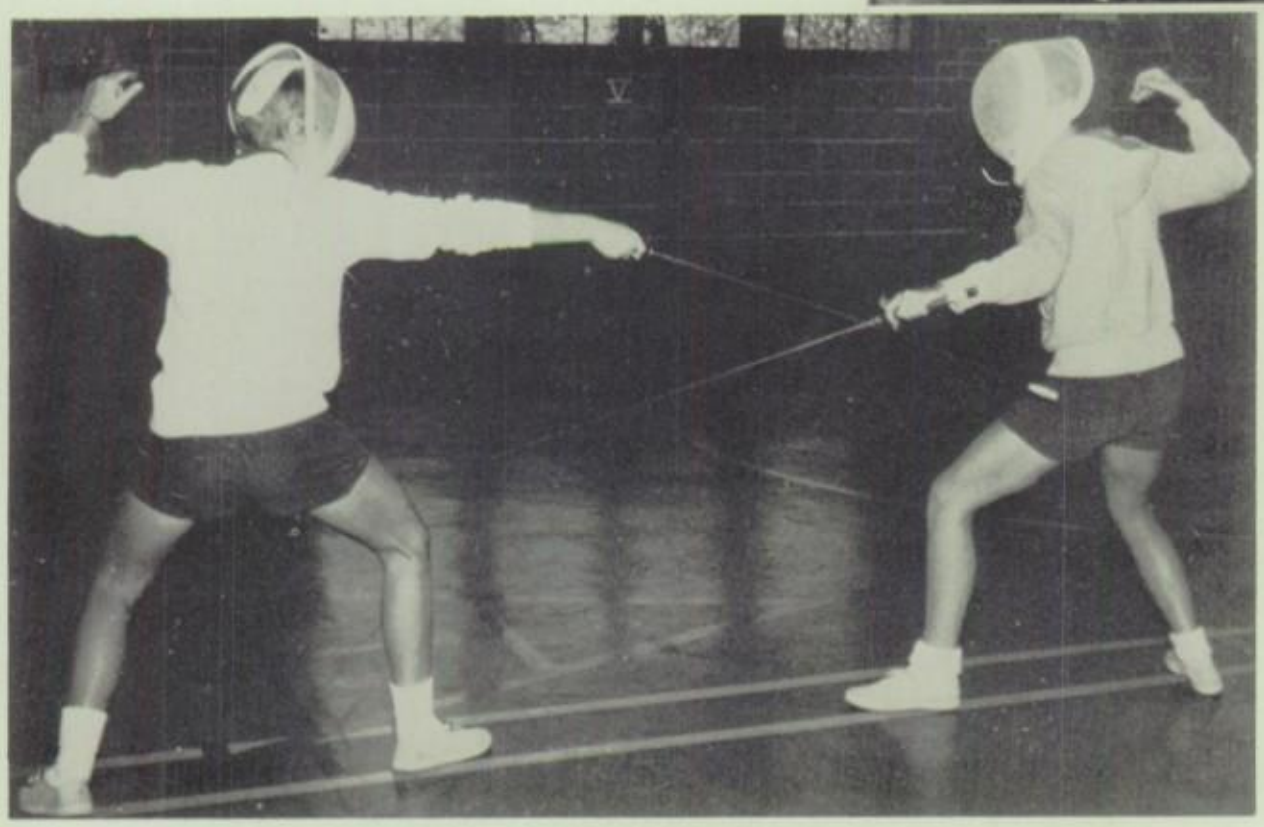
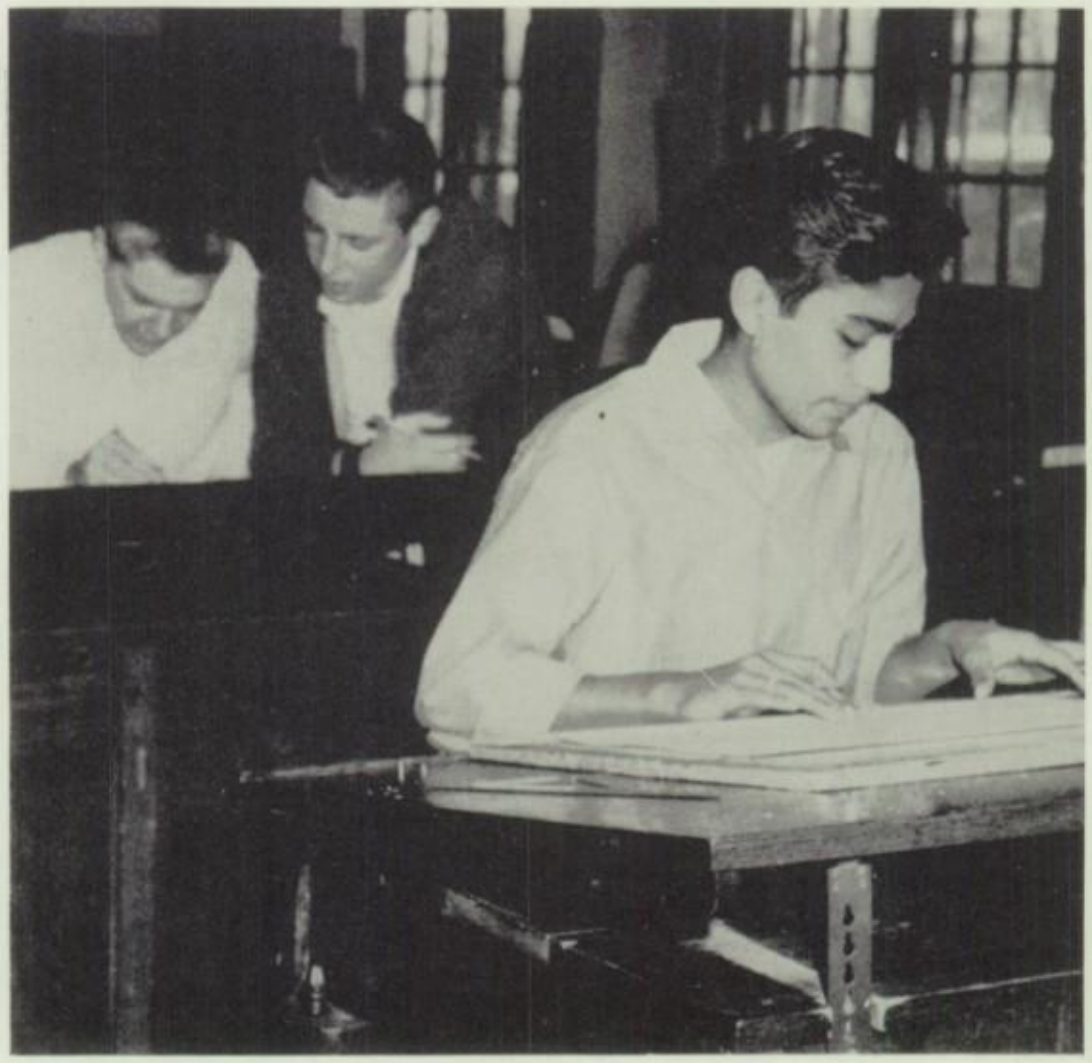
VARIOUS GROUP activities are featured for second-year boys as they participate in tumbling, ping - pong, and a rope climb simultaneously.



FENCING IS A SKILL of control and coordination as demonstrated by Norma Purvis and Karen Zakar.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS



THEY MAY SLAVE over the drawing boards, but Doug Keiswetter, Ken Perry, and John Vasquez come up with some mighty nice mechanical drawing plates as result of their efforts.

A TABLE TOP gets trimmed to size when Don Adkins goes to work under Mr. Nuzman's practiced eye.

RADIO ASSEMBLY and repair work will be both handy and profitable for these two, Richard Miller and Larry Chapman.

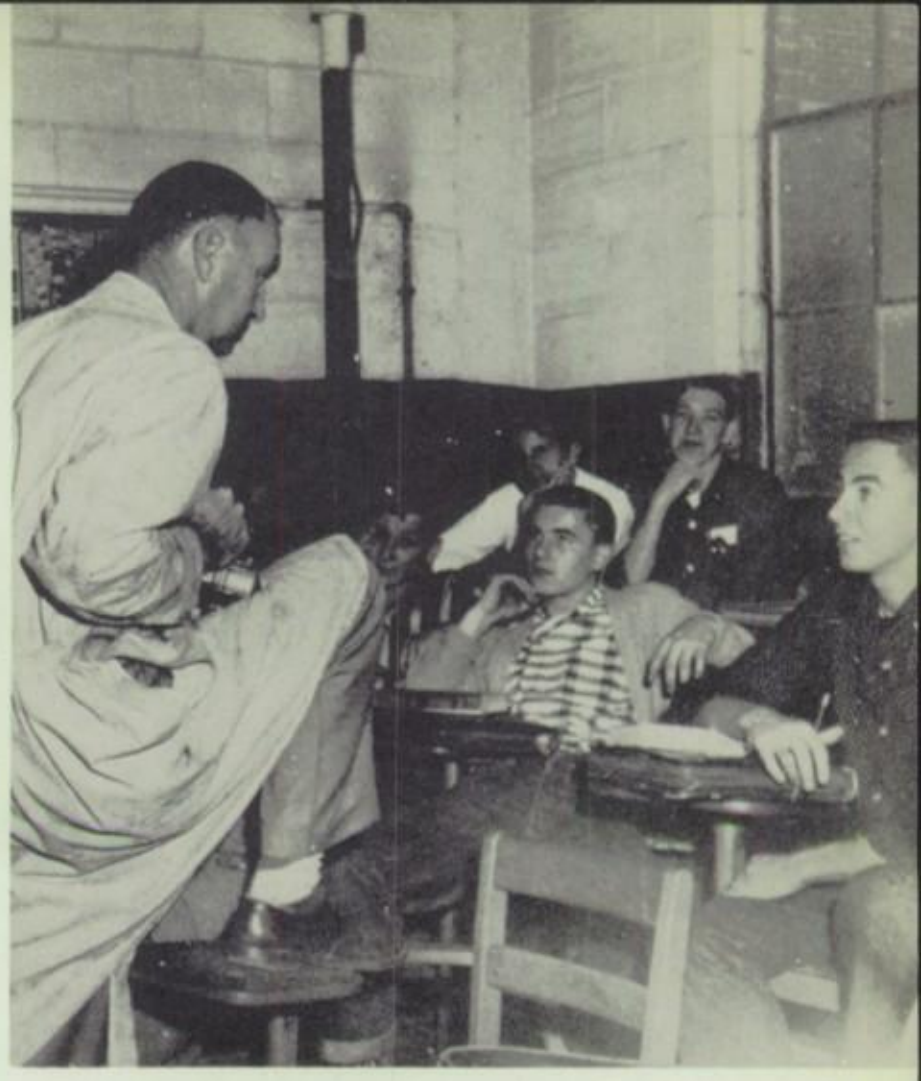
Busy Hands, Keen Brains Join Art, Craftsmanship

A VARIETY OF SUBJECTS well suited to career and leisure-time interests come under the heading of Industrial Arts. Hundreds of boys in the eight-teacher department were challenged with courses that emphasized good workmanship, knowledge of fundamentals and techniques.

Auto mechanics gave opportunities to learn the intricate parts of car engines and a chance to work-over many makes of cars. For those whose interests turned toward the field of engineering, mechanical drawing was a basic course. Here the student soon was on an individual basis where he progressed as rapidly as his ability warranted.

Shapeless pieces of mahogany and pine became useful creations for the home or office in woodworking classes where students developed skills on lathes and power saws. Electricity, radio, and printing gave boys a general introduction to specialized fields which in many cases led to the Trade School for advanced vocational training.

For a select few the rigors of backstage construction and a knowledge of scenery changes and lighting were incentives which may some day lead to a Hollywood career. Double periods in machine shop pointed the precision-skilled toward new outlets.



THE PROS AND CONS of auto mechanics come in for a good working-over by Mr. Colton. Bill Johnson and Bob Meinershagen seem pretty interested. Behind them are Jay Faulconer, Everett Freeby, Donald Schneider, and Kenneth Schuette who are taking it all in.

AS RELAXED AS a couple of Perry Comos, Tom Berroth and David Miller keep the press going as they run off school stationery in the production end of vocational printing.

HEEDING THE SAFETY rules, Don Brown and Howard Powers get instructions from Mr. Walker in the machine shop class before starting out on their own assignments.

TRADE SCHOOL

PHOTOGRAPHY shutterbugs, Phil Hoffman and Dorsey Burgess, load their camera under the eagle eye of Mr. Blevans.

ELECTRICITY STUDENTS under Mr. Coy's direction must learn everything they can about the problems of illumination. Ronnie Simecha and Victor Gipson obviously take their study as seriously as does their teacher.

Concentration on Skills Promises Better Jobs

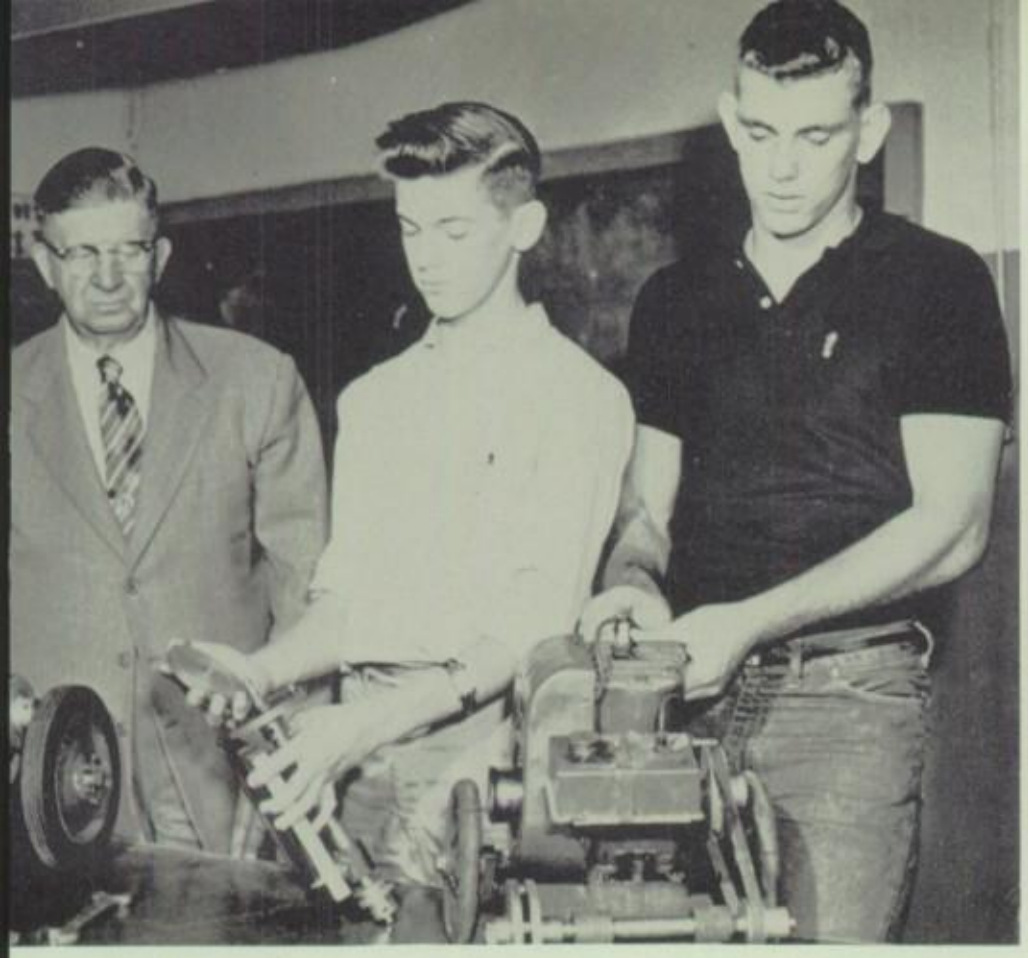
SERVING as a valuable workshop in vocational training is the Trade School program. The apprentices, veterans as well as high school students, receive valuable mechanical knowledge and training in radio and TV, photography, electricity, auto mechanics, machine shop, welding, and printing.

All work closely with Topeka's labor and management committees so that students study the newest developments and the latest techniques in their fields along with personnel needs.

Following aptitude tests, students are enrolled during their junior and senior years. The first three hours of the day are spent in regular classrooms before they leave for the vocational courses under expert supervision.

Upon completion of their training, the students are issued special certificates in addition to the regular high school diploma, and they are then qualified for jobs in their respective fields.

PROTECTED by goggles, Fred Fochele works on a porch rail while Mr. Haag, welding instructor, and Leon Pelton study the blueprints from which it was developed.



INTRICATE and precision machine shop work takes all the skill and patience that Mr. Coy and students, Robert Provo and Gary Scheurmann, can muster.

WHETHER STOCK CARS or hot rods, Mr. Young teaches Blaine Johnson everything there is to know about them.

LEARNING the linotypists' trade is a good bet for Gene McCord and Manuel Arredondo who are responsible for The WORLD's composition as well as that of athletic programs.

JOHN PARTON needs both the text book and Mr. Palmer's advice to help him with his complicated radio hookups.

PROCTORS

CLERICAL EXPERIENCE is gained by office proctors Jane Shendel, Kathy Elliott, Kathy Workman and Jean Smith.

SUE FALLEY and Nancy Kistler help keep the cafeteria neat and clean during the hour and forty minute lunchtime break.

Up-and-at-em Helpers Give Efficient Boosts

LITTLE do the uninformed realize the time that is taken out of schedules by many Trojans to aid teachers, office staff, administrators, and nurse in their duties. Proctors, working on a study hall basis, performed many necessary tasks to keep Troy running smoothly.

Room proctors ran errands, checked papers, and did various jobs to ease the work load of the teachers. Eighteen proctors were on duty daily to carry on the responsible job of assisting Miss Sibberson with attendance records. Others worked with office secretaries to distribute bulletins, memos, and call slips, and to direct guests around the building. Cafeteria proctors did everything from checking trays to wiping tables.

Particularly careful and sympathetic attention to details were the requirements of the nurse's proctors who assisted in keeping both health and test records. The Visual Aids department trained its proctors to operate projectors and keep them in order, while the gym proctors were Johnnies-on-the spot in caring for equipment, running errands, and keeping records.

Most teachers are generous in their praise of this corps of willing workers who in turn think themselves fortunate to merit the responsibility placed with them.

KAREN AKERSTROM, Max Wells, and Bob Bachtell make last-minute preparations before showing a movie.

GRADING PAPERS is just one of the many duties Marcia Frost undertakes in proctor service.

ATTENDANCE proctors Margie Faulkner and Judy Foster collect absence cards in new metal boxes so that hourly records can be tabulated.

MAINTENANCE

THIRSTY? "Heavy" Irwin and Miss Youngquist enjoy a cool drink as they paused after an especially busy day feeding hungry Trojans. Mr. Erwin supervised the students' dining room.

IT LOOKS DIFFERENT from behind the counter! Lawrence Good helps himself to the all-time favorite, a Bar-B-Q Burger.

MONEY! MONEY! MONEY! All those greenbacks keep Sally McMurray, Mrs. Ash, the treasurer, and Barbara Davies busy after the lunch lines close.

Back-of-Scenes Jobs Demand Capabilities

LAST LUNCH, FIRST LUNCH—No matter what time Trojans filed through the lunch lines, there was always a wide variety of nutritious food to satisfy ravenous appetites.

The task of serving 2400 students and faculty members daily was handled by a capable staff whose day began long before ours did. They were kept busy preparing meats, cutting cakes, mixing salads, dipping vegetables, and baking hot rolls and pies.

An oversized potato masher, two huge steamers, and countless pots and pans were employed by the cooks and helpers under Miss Youngquist's supervision. Mechanical dishwashers and conveyer belts made cleanup chores less burdensome.

Always on call was the corps of custodians who were faced with the increased demands due to expanding enrollment. They took care of everything from heating and lighting to mowing the lawns, shovelling snow, sweeping the halls, and moving pianos.

Their most important contribution was their abilty to cope with any and all situations at any hour with the most pleasant attitudes.

IT TAKES a whole crew to regulate Troy's giant heating unit. Harold Schwindt, head custodian, and Wendell Wright, electrician, turn the wheels while Fred Stewart, Tom Davis, Clarence Hendrix, and Carl Brock look on. Their duties seem never-ending.

IT'S JUST ANOTHER cake to Mrs. Myra Dick who has worked here ever since the building opened 28 years ago. Trojans look forward every day to eating her delicious chocolate, coconut, spice, lemon, and orange cakes.

CAFETERIA worker Ralph Ginter draws gravy from a huge kettle in the kitchen. All he needs is mashed potatoes.

Smooth Campaigns Open Year of Exciting Activity

THE LONG HOURS of anticipation and excitement came to a thrilling climax as Election Week once again came to the Halls of Troy soon after school opened last fall.

Energetic candidates plastered walls and friends with attractive posters and hand cards. Music was added to the campaign as pep bands marched through the halls while clever slogans were carried by enthusiastic boosters.

The Election Rally acquainted voters with the candidates, and at two assemblies they heard finalists orate on their qualifications. The results were announced at the annual Election Dance and the newly elected officers were specially honored.

Throughout the week, good organization reflected a strong planning committee headed by the election commissioner and clerk while the two faculty sponsors gave the guiding hands so necessary to this most exciting week in the whole year.

POLITICIANS pause for a brief moment to wish each other luck. Mike Sloo and Tom Mistler, campaigning for Student Congress President, and Don Warner and Tom Latter in the race for Veep, speak well for Troy's fine competitive spirit.

NEXT! Rose Marie Norman leaves the voting booth with ballot in hand to make room for Dixie Dunnaway.

IT HAS TO BE expected! Campaigner Ann Runyon pins another placard on Frank Keller making him a walking billboard.

Bi-Cameral Legislature Keeps School in Control

AS THE TWO HANDS of a clock are required to tell accurate time, so the two houses of Troy's Student Congress worked together for the success of the school.

The Vice-President of Student Council presided over the Congress with Nancy Dunn as Secretary and Gary Rosenwald as Attorney-General.

Monday mornings found the Council members formulating plans that would affect all Trojans. Three representatives from each class and the class officers held voting power.

Student Council sponsored the All-School Christmas Party, one of the biggest social events of the year, and backed the Officers' Training Course for all officers of school clubs and extra-curricular activities.

Democratic Ideals Rule Lower House Members

"GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE, by the people, and for the people . . ." The United States Constitution insures representation through two legislative bodies, and so do the students of Topeka High. The lower house, affectionately called Rep Council, was made up of one representative from each of the seventy-five homerooms.

Thursday mornings found the council members and their presiding officer, Speaker Ron Hodges, convened to discuss problems and new questions and to clear up old business. Taking the issues back to their homerooms, Rep Council was able to get a good cross section of student opinion before final consideration.

Traditional Homecoming and Queen of Court festivities were managed by the Council, and a special project this year included revision of rules regarding these major activities. Minor changes were also made concerning the regulations for Honor "T" points and the handling of student election procedures.

Activity ticket sales, the sponsorship of WPA favor cards, the promotion of student directory and SUNFLOWER sales, various class projects such as dues, party tickets, and senior announcements were some of the many duties of these industrious school leaders and their alternates who based their beliefs on the old adage, "One for all and all for one."

Spirit of Doing and Daring Rests on Capable Shoulders

COMBINING energy and initiative, Senior Boys' and Girls' Councils were active participants in the student roles of maintaining activities.

One boy and one girl and their alternates represented each homeroom. Meeting on every other Tuesday morning, they worked together on service projects connected with Topeka High. They recognized the importance and responsibility of representing their classmates and took an active part in promoting school spirit.

A coke party given by the girls in early September acquainted the sophomores with their new Trojan surroundings and traditions. Among the combined efforts of the councils were the Sophomore Induction assembly, measuring for caps and gowns, selling senior invitations, and acting as school hosts for Parents' Night, Open House, and Career Day.

Proud of the honor of representing their school, these enthusiastic Trojans were instrumental in supplying the steadying influence to keep THS smooth-running.

THE BIGGER the sales, the greater number of scholarships. Martha Crow, Suzi Clark, Linda Fisher, Delores Tillman, and Judy Johnson count out tickets and change as they start on the Panhellenic sales campaign to bring added awards to THS seniors.

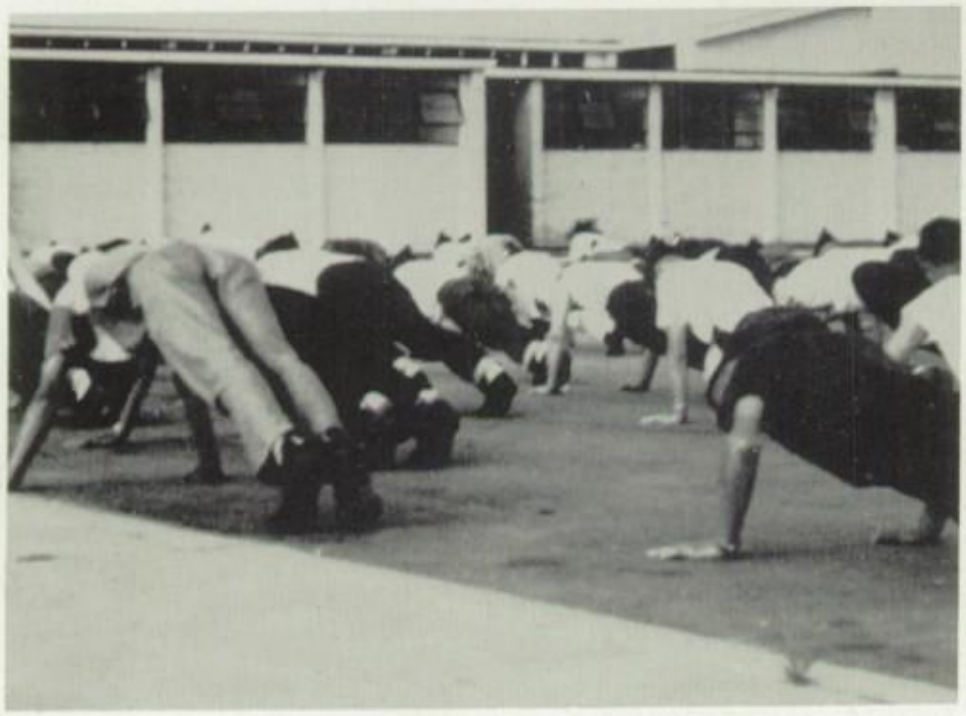
VIGOROUS CALISTHENICS headed the list of early morning activities for the Boys' Staters at the Wichita Conclave.



Delegates Learn Political Ropes

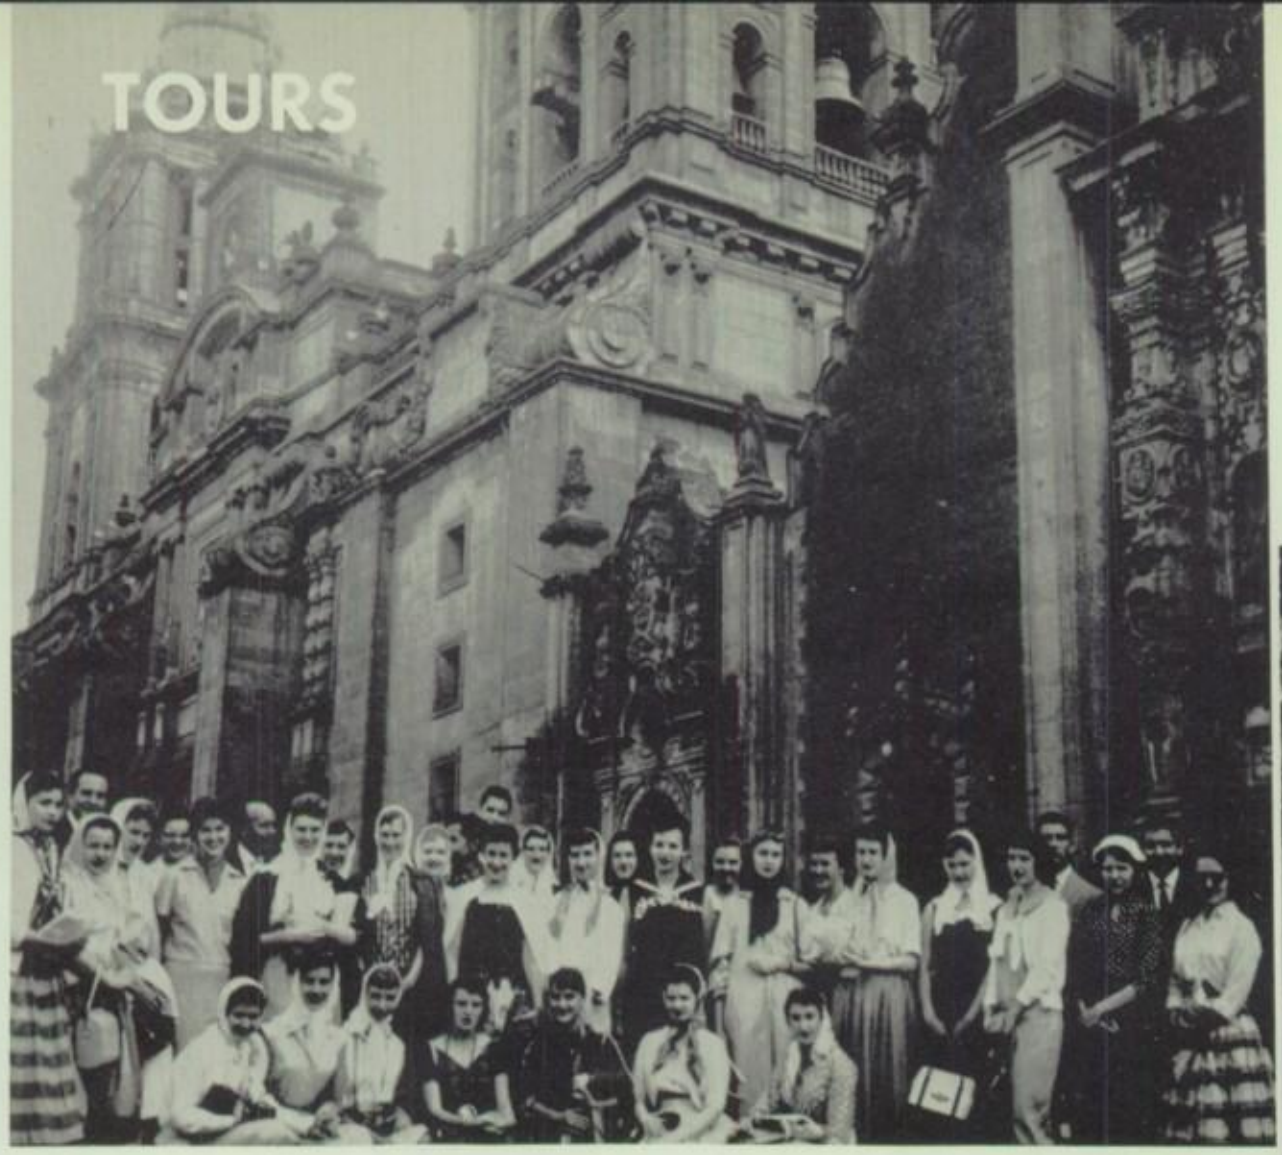
PROMOTION of governmental experiences was the principal function of the meeting of Boys' and Girls' State members although delegates also enjoyed a busy week of fun and excitement in Wichita and Lawrence at summer conclaves.

Representing high schools across the state, juniors were chosen on the basis of their interest in governmental affairs and scholastic qualifications. Local civic groups aided financially.

The detailed operation of city, state, and national governments gained new meanings to the delegates as each joined a political party, participated in an election campaign, performed duties as elected officers and appointed citizenry, and finally evaluated the experiences.

Friendships that will last through many years were formed which will no doubt be renewed on the college level and even continued in public careers.

THE CLOSING banquet of Girls' State brought together three caroliers: Carol Irwin of Lyons, Carol Bell of THS, and Carol Frederick of Medicine Lodge.



TOURING TROJANS pose in front of the ancient and beautiful Catedral de Mexico, in Mexico City, the largest church edifice on the North American continent.

Cities, Hills, Bullrings Tempt THS Travelers

THE YEN TO TRAVEL captivates the hearts of young and old as vacation adventures beckon and lure with exciting promises of far-away places.

Spanish students tasted the romance and flavor of South-of-the-Border in a flurry of June excitement. With everything to see from bullfights to ancient Aztec relics, Mexico became a land of color and enchantment for thirty-one students and their sponsors, Mrs. McIntyre and Mr. Montes.

Historical eastern locales took on new meanings for social studies students and Mr. Kistler as they joined the Kansas Council of World Affairs tour. The statewide group visited Washington and New York in a late spring adventure of fun and learning.

An enjoyable and profitable week for Tom Mistler, Trojan delegate to the Student Council Training Camp, coupled educational experiences with outdoor recreation in the heart of the Rockies at Camp Cheley, Colorado.

CAMP CHELEY provided fine recreation for delegates to the nationwide Student Council Training Camp. Tom Mistler's is the familiar smile in the center.

SITTING ON THE LAWN where our first President once walked, Karen Griffee and Wally Sue Wallace look toward the Potomac. Their tour was with the Kansas Council of World Affairs and Troy's third participation.

ABSENCES are carefully tabulated, as an AFS meeting opens, by the president-secretary twosome, Nancy Jasperson and Ann Runyon. A long waiting list makes such details important and keeps participation active.

SWISS drummer-boy, Jean Balmat, thrills the Trojan audience with his amazing solo techniques on a borrowed drum.

HOPEFUL FINALISTS in the AFS program for exchange students to European countries unroll what might be a "picture of destiny" for them. Discussing their hopes are Martha Peach, Jon Ekdahl, Claudia Newman, Jan Shapiro, Diane Flott, and John Hopkins. Scholarship and personality were top factors.

Opinions Broaden As Understandings Grow

"WALK TOGETHER, talk together, ye peoples of the earth; then and only then shall we have peace."

The AFS motto tried to make "hands across the borders and across the seas" a reality as the club pursued its objective of understanding all peoples through better understandings of those with similar educational, age, and social interests. Continuing the exchange program in which THS has had students from France, Germany, Denmark, Spain, and Finland, Ayten Meric was this year's guest from Turkey and Jean Balmat from Switzerland. Barbara Ossian represented THS in Finland last summer and the three have given a fine cosmopolitan flavor to the student body.

Raising money for the exchange program centered in a Tag Day in March and the proceeds from the spirited auction and additional funds insure continuance of the interchange.

'Tempus Fugit', Keeps Staff Members on Toes

THE 1959 SUNFLOWER can be said to have been molded around a never-changing element of our world today—Time. Hours of work were spent composing copy, writing headlines, snapping pictures, identifying poses, and devising cutlines as watches ticked off the days that brought deadlines nearer.

The staff, selected last spring, spent many summer hours planning and developing the theme. Wound up tightly by their enthusiasm, assignments began ticking off as soon as school opened. As a mainspring is the most important part of any time piece, so was Karen Kirkwood, Editor-in-Chief, the life spring of the yearbook.

In itself, the SUNFLOWER is a symbol of Time—a full and complete record of the happiest time of our lives, the very wonderful school year of 1958-59.

"NINE, TEN, eleven . . ." Marcia Myers, Margie Wingate, and Linda Wheeler plan the publicity slogan, "Time to Buy!"—Sunflowers, that is.

SELECTING PICTURES made every moment busy and interesting for Joyce Taylor and Kathy Covert.

SHUTTERBUGS ALL—Judy Asel, Wally Sue Wallace, and Charles Mesigh turned actions and activities into the permanence of yearbook photographs by trying to capture Trojan life at its most expressive.

Staff Whirls and Reels As Paper Goes to Press

OUT OF THE STACCATO of typewriters clacking, phones ringing, and the hustle and bustle of news gathering came the public relations link for THS, the Topeka High School WORLD, its weekly newspaper.

Eighteen busy staff members, each with a "nose for news," met fifth hour every day to write and edit copy, lay out pages, take pictures, sell advertising, and gather "scoops" for eager subscribers to read on Friday afternoons.

Composition work, headline setting, and page makeup was done in vocational printing under Mr. Gilbert's supervision, and on Wednesdays and Thursdays traffic between 220 and the J-Room flowed steadily as pages were readied.

Under the efficient direction of Managing Editor Susan Heil, the WORLD made extensive coverage of scholastic developments, school-sponsored activities, and personal accomplishments to keep students, faculty, advertisers, and home readers in touch with THS.

"YOU GIVE ME a news story and I'll write you an editorial," says Linda Swanson as she proceeds to type one for Karen Griffee.

JUST WAITING to "get their hands" on the feature story Marilyn Nolan is writing are Kay Christenson and Lloyd Fleming who find themselves short of news.

Recognition of Journalistic Endeavors Produces Encouragement for Neophytes

TROJAN BOOK COVERS were sold throughout the year by active members. Here Marilyn Siegrist and Paula Dickerson "peddle their wares" to Don Pfuetze, Dicky Moore, and Mark Erickson who resolve to keep new books spotless.

SEEKING to further development of skills and channel career interests toward the field of journalism, Quill and Scroll has hundreds of functioning chapters all over the world. Troy's chapter of thirty-eight members has worked hard to promote the ideals and aims of its national organizations and back school publications.

Based on membership requirements of high scholarship and quality of publications work, the group promoted its journalistic interests through service projects for the school. As a result of this year's sale of textbook and SUNFLOWER protectors, new reference books were purchased, conference fees paid, and photographers enjoyed the benefits of training courses.

And to top off its tradition of high purpose, Quill and Scroll's sponsorship of the Seal for Troy contest added a fine flavor to a busy year.

National Movement Spurs Humanitarian Activities

RANKED HIGH on the list of service clubs, Troy's branch of the National Red Cross Movement opened its doors to all comers. Membership in the Council was limited to those who took part actively in club projects.

A float for the Homecoming Parade and the sale of chrysanthemum corsages at the game repeated participation in activities which have been popular in the past. The annual Veterans Day Assembly with its traditional tableaux and flag ceremonies was a highlight for both members and the school.

The Christmas Party at Ingleside and gift wrapping for the State Hospital were projects that made the holiday season more meaningful, while the annual rummage sale brought in funds to continue these and other service plans for the coming year.

"Join and Serve" provided a motto for the goal of brotherhood, good will, and harmony among all nations and all peoples of the world.

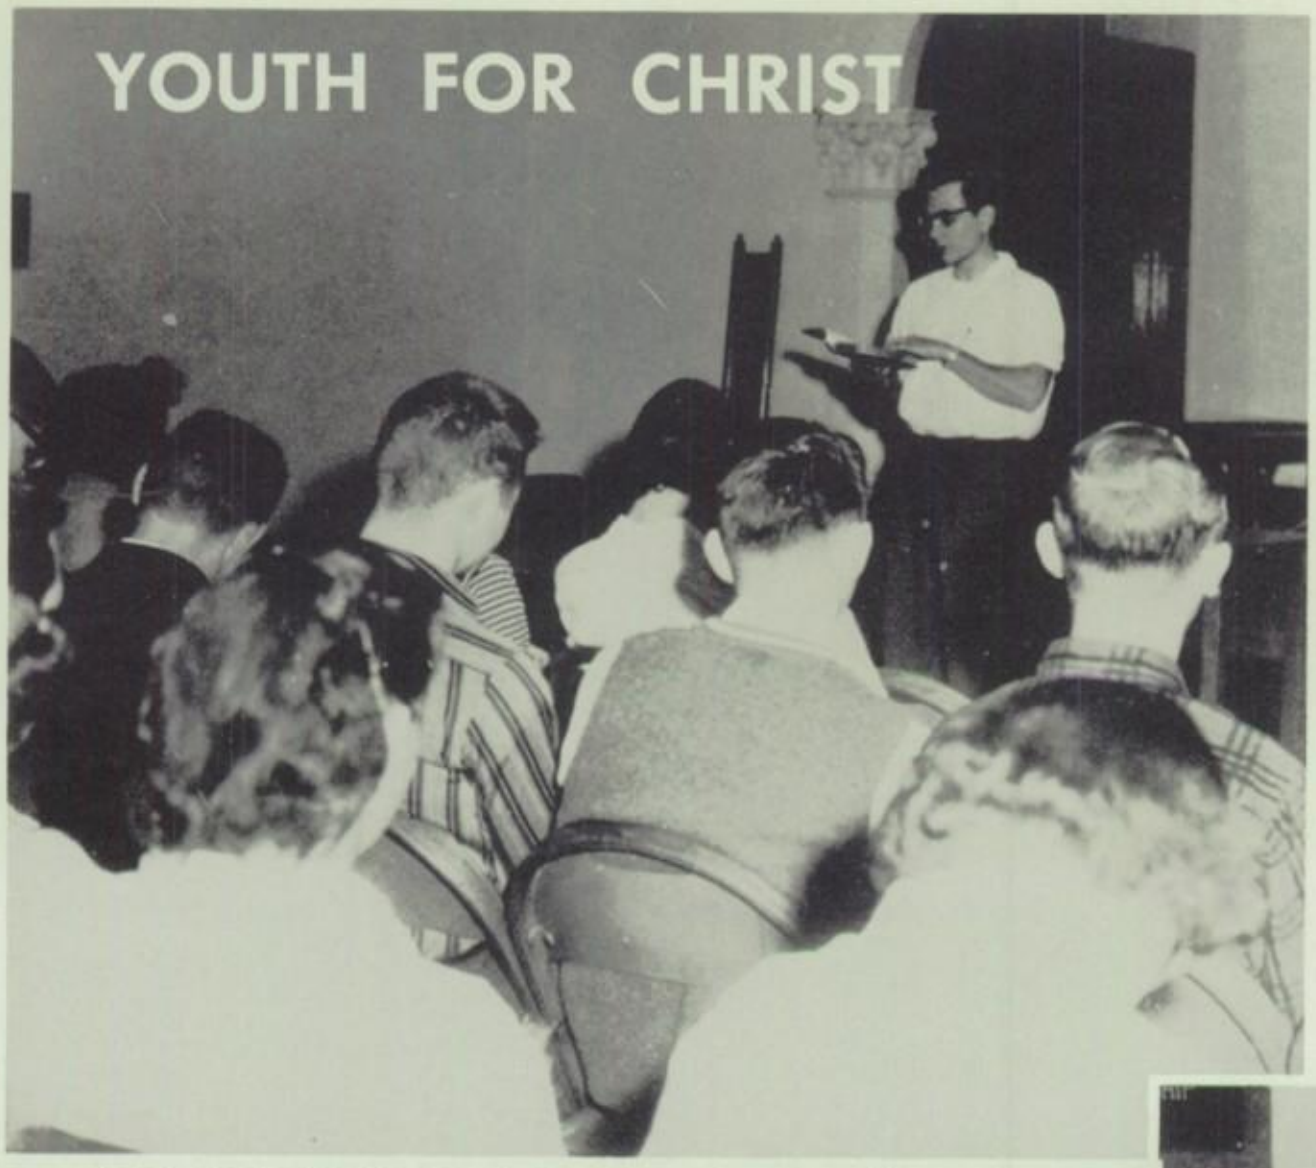
Kiwanians Stress Community Aspects

"THAT'S JUST the way it should be" insists Bill Mills as he, Terry Smith, Bob Irwin, and Jon Ekdahl admire the new edition of the student directories eagerly awaited by loyal Trojans.

THE FAMILIAR key inscribed on the covers of the student directories is the insignia of this active school and civic club sponsored activity. Under the guiding hands of Kiwanis, one of the community's most earnest service organizations, the Key Club group was indoctrinated into its adult responsibilities.

The fifty boys who made up the limited membership met regularly on Friday mornings to hear talks and participate in discussions. Delegates attended the state convention where school-community problems were considered and lasting friendships were made with other Kansas groups.

The social life of the Key Club revolved around their service projects with a hayrack ride with their dates in early fall repeated as an annual event.



A MOMENT OF PRAYER is shared at an early morning meeting when Jim Weaver reads from the Bible to a large gathering of sincere and dedicated members and their special guests.

Selflessness and Service Mark Attitude of Members

"TO STIMULATE INTEREST in serving Christ and to form a fellowship for the Christian teenager of Topeka High School" are the high goals of the Youth for Christ Club. This spiritual-minded group meets once a week, there are no dues, and their programs are organized to be both interesting and inspirational to members and non-members.

During the year they sponsored an all-school movie "Going Steady," participated in music and athletics, and won recognition with a clever Homecoming float.

Following the lead of the Pep Clubs, YFC was the second school organization to present an entire assembly program. A forty-minute movie, "The Tom Bennett Story," musical talent from club membership, and a guest speaker made up the entertainment which rounded out the informational portion. As a highlight of their social activities, a "Funspiration" was held in cooperation with Highland Park's club, and 150 guests enjoyed an evening of fun, good food, and excitement.

Service Takes Root In Inward Growth

CAPABILITY was the key word of this active group of girls as they completed another successful year. Y-Teens gathered in bi-monthly meetings at the YWCA where they mixed work with play and were stimulated to carry on many successful service projects. Programs covered all subjects from fashion hints to fathoming futures and painting pictures to playing with orphans.

Goals were high but within reach: "to grow as a person; to grow in the friendship of all people, of all races, religions, and nationalities; and to grow in the knowledge of God."

Boys Set High Goals; See Accomplishments

TO PROMOTE good will in a Christian manner in the school, community, nation, and throughout the world is the ultimate aim of the Hi-Y. A feeling of inter-dependence, patriotism, and cooperation has developed among members, and many entertaining as well as educational programs were planned to reinforce these attitudes. Speakers from many professions presented programs on missiles, rockets, hobbies, and careers with films shown on several occasions.

As a money raising project, the boys sold THS pennants, a service enthusiastically appreciated by the student body. Their end-of-the-year celebration was the annual overnight, a fitting climax to the year of fun and service. Thus, by combining personal growth and recreation with helpful services wherever needed, the Hi-Y's helped build better citizens who will abandon prejudice and further national cooperation, prelude to world peace.

INFORMAL discussions of individual problems were often the highlights of Hi-Y meetings with Mr. Coder adding his "t w o - c e n t s w o r t h." Investigative Minds Plan and Accomplish

PROMOTING interest in science and providing information for the various career fields is becoming more and more important to the high school student today. This was accomplished at THS by considerable emphasis in departmental work and also through field trips, guest speakers, and club programs which sparked activities.

Visiting lecturers discussed a variety of topics ranging from the skinning of squirrels and the preparation of hides to air control, radiology, and radio-isotopes. A trip to the Midwest Research Institute and Linda Hall Technical Library in Kansas City was the year's highlight.

The most eventful club project for the year was the annual Science Fair. Given a chance to display their ability and interest, Trojans responded with eighty-eight entries, twelve by groups, and seventy-six by individuals. There were eight in math, eighteen in the physical sciences, and the remainder in biology. The two-day fair drew thousands of visitors to Exhibit Hall and THS came off with a good share of the high praise of judges and spectators.

Career-Minded Work at Basic Angles of Training

TOPEKA High students who have an active interest in today's business world belong to the Topeka branch of the Business Education Clubs of Kansas. The local group is divided into two sections so as to develop more highly specific fields of interest in office practice and retail selling.

At their meetings there are speakers and demonstrations but these plans do not exclude extra projects to widen interests in personal relationships. In the fall the group held a fun-filled picnic party at Lake Shawnee, the two-day Business Education Convention was held in Emporia in February, and the annual Employer-Employee banquet closed the year in festive style.

Fun for All; All in Fun

EQUALLY important as the learning of a language is the frequent use of it in informal conversation. During class time the fundamentals of languages can be taught but in club meetings these can be practiced in an atmosphere of relaxed fun and interest.

The Latin and French Clubs held regular meetings to enjoy the facets of their own particular language but on occasion they joined forces to let the welkin ring in folksong and Christmas carol or the interchange of hilarious skits.

The French Club's Homecoming float won a third place with its Eiffel "Tower Over the Bulldogs" theme and pride in all-school participation. The March Latin Convention in Manhattan brought students from all over Kansas to share the background and modern applications of a living language of antiquity. While the Spanish Club waived activity during the year, their interest in Mexico colored their class work and kept enthusiasm high.

Attitude Is Important To Teaching Careers

TEACHERS have the guiding hands that mould young minds to the all-important task of developing the future of our country. With the need for teachers growing more acute, Troy's Dewitt Clinton Chapter of the FTA had a membership of over one hundred, ample evidence that young people of today are interested in decreasing the shortage and accepting the responsible challenge of building the destiny of America.

In a sincere effort to improve the attitudes of students toward the profession of teaching, the club held interesting programs in which student teachers, departmental leaders, and foreign exchange teachers lent exciting optimism. During the fall the group ushered for the Kansas State Teachers Convention and this spring held an installation banquet for new officers and seniors.

Heart, Home, Happiness Incentives to Careers

HAIR STYLISTS, interior decorators, silverware and china experts, fashion designers, and home economists brought news to Troy's more than a hundred home economics club members in an exciting series of monthly meetings this year.

Playing the roles of Topeka hostesses, Trohoma assisted in both the district and state meetings and watched Louise Weber take over the job of state secretary. In keen competition, President Judy Gorrell gained recognition for both herself and FHA by becoming Troy's nominee for Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow, later to win the state award.

As they reached out for service, members promoted a successful clothing drive for needy children, and held a delightful St. Patrick's Day tea with their mothers as special guests. Then to round out the scope of FHA purpose, Trohoma Chapter turned attention to religion in group attendance at a church service during National FHA Week in April.

FROM TIME IMMEMORIAL, ailing humans have looked into the kind faces of their nurses to implore help, and dedicated women have responded to their calls. With this humanitarian thought in mind, more than a hundred Trojan girls who are planning medical careers united to form the Future Nurses Club.

At monthly meetings they studied and heard talks about their chosen professions from guest speakers who represented all phases of medical work. As "Candystripers" in pretty pink and white striped uniforms and white aprons they helped maintain the Stormont-Vail Hospitality Shop. They assisted at the polio clinic and took an active part in last winter's tuberculin testing program.

At the close of the year, service points were compiled and deserving members received commemorative pins at an inspirational candlelight initiation. With the challenge of the profession in their minds, members of Future Nurses continue to inspire prospective personnel for a calling to one of the most needed and most respected professions of the day.

'Slow Down and Live' Keynotes New Club

FOR A NEW CLUB to get off to a flying start is really something worth shouting about. Goals and accomplishments are the measure by which a club is known; and when goals are unusually meaningful and timely, and accomplishments are evident, a club has made a real place for itself.

Topeka was host to the Governor's Safety Convention in the fall where plans were made on a state-wide scope. A Safety Week assembly at which a nationally famous racing driver emphasized the need for safety, a mock session of the Topeka Youth Court, and a display of a wrecked car were the club's efforts to demonstrate its purpose, "Slow Down and Live" and "Safety on the Highways."

Athletes Put Energies To School Betterment

REPRESENTING the numerous competitive sports, the T-Club, with its membership of sixty boys, united its efforts to work as a coordinated group. Any boy who had lettered in one or more athletic activities was eligible. The time and efforts unselfishly spent resulted in projects for Topeka High.

Primarily designed to serve athletics, the members deviated this year in giving a generous part of their income, $75, to the United Funds Drive. In addition they provided sports equipment of all kinds to benefit all athletes.

A large part of the money used for these projects was acquired through the operation of the concession stand at home games. Expenses were also met by sponsoring an exhibition basketball game featuring the Harlem Magicians in their almost unbelievable routines.

Not neglecting themselves, the members enjoyed swims, a hayrack ride, and a dinner honoring all the coaches and their wives.

Come Cold or Crowds Hardy Crews Check In

BUNDLED in scarfs and car coats, dressed in official pep uniforms, or decked in afternoon wear, Troy's football, basketball, and play cadets were the first contact the student body and the public had with sports and dramatic events. This loyal group of workers and their sponsors were early birds at important events at the school and Moore Bowl.

Football cadets sold and collected tickets at the home games and showed considerable physical stamina in their ability to compete with both weather and crowds. Basketball cadets often doubled at folding and passing out programs, while the play cadets manned the doors of Hoehner Auditorium.

Chosen on the basis of their dependability and willingness to work, the play cadets under Miss Hutchison and Miss Phillips, the basketball cadets under Mr. Bayless and Mr. Madl, and the football cadets under Mr. Dilley and Mr. Walker united to form another example of Trojan achievement through cooperation.

CASHIER Lou Anne Taylor's was a familiar face to those regularly patronizing Troy's home-court basketball games.

TICKETS, please! Cadets Jean Burkhardt, Linda Loughmiller, and Linda Piatt are ready for business just before the crowd arrives to see the thriller, "Mousetrap."

CO-SPONSORS of basketball cadets, Mr. Bayless and Mr. Madl, approve Jere Wilkey's well planned assignment sheet.

PLAY CADETS, dressed for Friday, meet for instructions before the night's performance of Tish, first play of the season. Front Row: Jo Ann Jellison, Verna Frazer, Linda Wedoff, Carol Wedoff, and Lonna Harbaugh. Row 2: Myrna Frazer, Linda Fisher, Linda Piatt, Nancy French, Alta Jones, and Glenda Pelton. Standing: Carol Bell, Cynthia Conrad, Susie Martin, Karen Kirkwood, Jean Fluharty, Linda Miller, Janette Hamilton, Linda Loughmiller, and Jean Burkhardt.

Two Faces of Thespis Show Best Traditions

THE MOST COVETED honor for a student of the drama department is acceptance for membership in the national Thespian Society. The award depends wholly on the amount of work done on one or all of the various productions of the year, either in staff duty or in major roles of the plays.

The chief purpose of Thespians is to promote growth and interest in high school dramatics, encourage continuation of the tradition of the theatre, and to reward worthwhile performances. Troupe 19 is named for the long-time director, Gertrude B. Wheeler.

Initiation is an event of late May after the annual productions have been evaluated. A festive supper party is followed by the ceremony and a series of highly entertaining skits showing the original writing and stage production abilities of the initiates. Special star awards for outstanding performances are also made at that time.

CHANGE OF PERSONALITY is helped by change of face. Louise French and Steve Nyswonger are intent as Miss Herrick applies the lipstick in making up Susan Hofwolt.

LETITIA CARBERRY, a vivacious old maid, mocks Aggie, her hypochondriac friend, because she does not feel the same enthusiasm toward Tish's "character building" follies as does Tish.

"THE MONEY IS GONE!" exclaims Ellen to Luther Hopkins and Charlie Sands, and so begins the climax of the delightful farce in which the unexpected dominates.

No Money, No Brakes, No Gas——No Brains

THE PENDULUM of the drama department swung into action in October with the farce Tish. The play concerned the escapades of Letitia Carberry and her two old cronies, Lizzy and Aggie. Tish was a blunt, out-spoken, and entirely lovable middle-aged spinster. Lizzy, whose favorite topic of conversation was her many operations, and Aggie, who was bothered by severe hay fever, were involved in Tish's many hilarious adventures.

The setting was a small town on the western border with a sheriff and his lady love. Tish was there because she thought that it would be a good place for a rest. But as usual she became involved in local affairs. Whether Tish was hunting a pair of lost false teeth or driving a car for the first time—without brakes—there was great suspense, laughter, and excitement right up until the final curtain.

IT MUST BE love that sweeps Lizzie into Sheriff Lem Pike's plump and eager arms.

"OH DAH - - - LING . . ." says Hollywood starlet Dorice Gaylord to Denby Grimes in a Tallulah-like husky drawl.

TISH SEEMS to have found more than her share of trouble as Callie Hopkins and Charlie Sands try to help while Aggie and Lizzie look on in great amazement.

Chills, Shudders Tense-up Viewers

SUSPENSE was the keyword to "Mousetrap", the well-known Agatha Christie mystery play, sponsored by the Seniors and Masque and Wig November 21.

From the blood-curdling scream at the opening of the curtain to the realization of the identity of the killer, the audience was in a constant state of anxiety.

No one will forget Detective Sergeant Trotter who was not a detective at all but a half-crazed murderer. In the final scene when the imposter was "out-inspected" by Major Metcalf the audience gave a sigh of relief that there was someone who could release the spring on a "mousetrap" that held an innocent victim in its grasp.

FOLLOWING HER DISCOVERY that Detective Trotter is an imposter, poor Mollie is almost choked to death by the man everyone had come to trust.

THE PLAY STAFF works hard to complete last-minute details before dress rehearsal. Jan Shapiro, Lee Ann Seem, and Dee Dee Watts gather up properties.

MRS. BOYLE and Miss Casewell have extreme differences of opinion as they discuss the problems of being stranded at Monkswell Manor during the big snow storm.

GILES RALSTON voices his fiery opinions to his wife, Mollie, about the "mousy" little man who has come to stay at the Manor quite indefinitely.

Melodies, Meanings Impress Participants and Audiences

WHETHER ONE'S tasted lobster or boiled clams, the experience of hearing "Carousel" will be long remembered. The setting was the Maine countryside in all the glory of springtime and the audience was caught up in the whirl of carnival life and the magic of clambakes across the bay.

"If I Loved You," sung by the quiet, thoughtful Julie and the carousel barker, Billy Bigelow, was a love song never to be forgotten. The lovers faced obstacles in Mrs. Mullins, the carousel owner, and Mr. Bascombe, owner of the cotton mill where Julie worked. Billy's "Soliloquy," sung when he is thinking of his expected child, is probably the most impressive song in modern operetta music.

After "A Real Nice Clambake" Julie was stunned to hear that Billy had been stabbed during a robbery in which he had hoped to get money for their baby. When Billy is led to Heaven the starkeeper permits him to return to earth for one day to see his daughter's graduation. The finale and "You'll Never Walk Alone" were thrills to the audience, steeped in the spirit of the music. The entire production was filled with melody and meanings that touched the heartstrings tenderly.

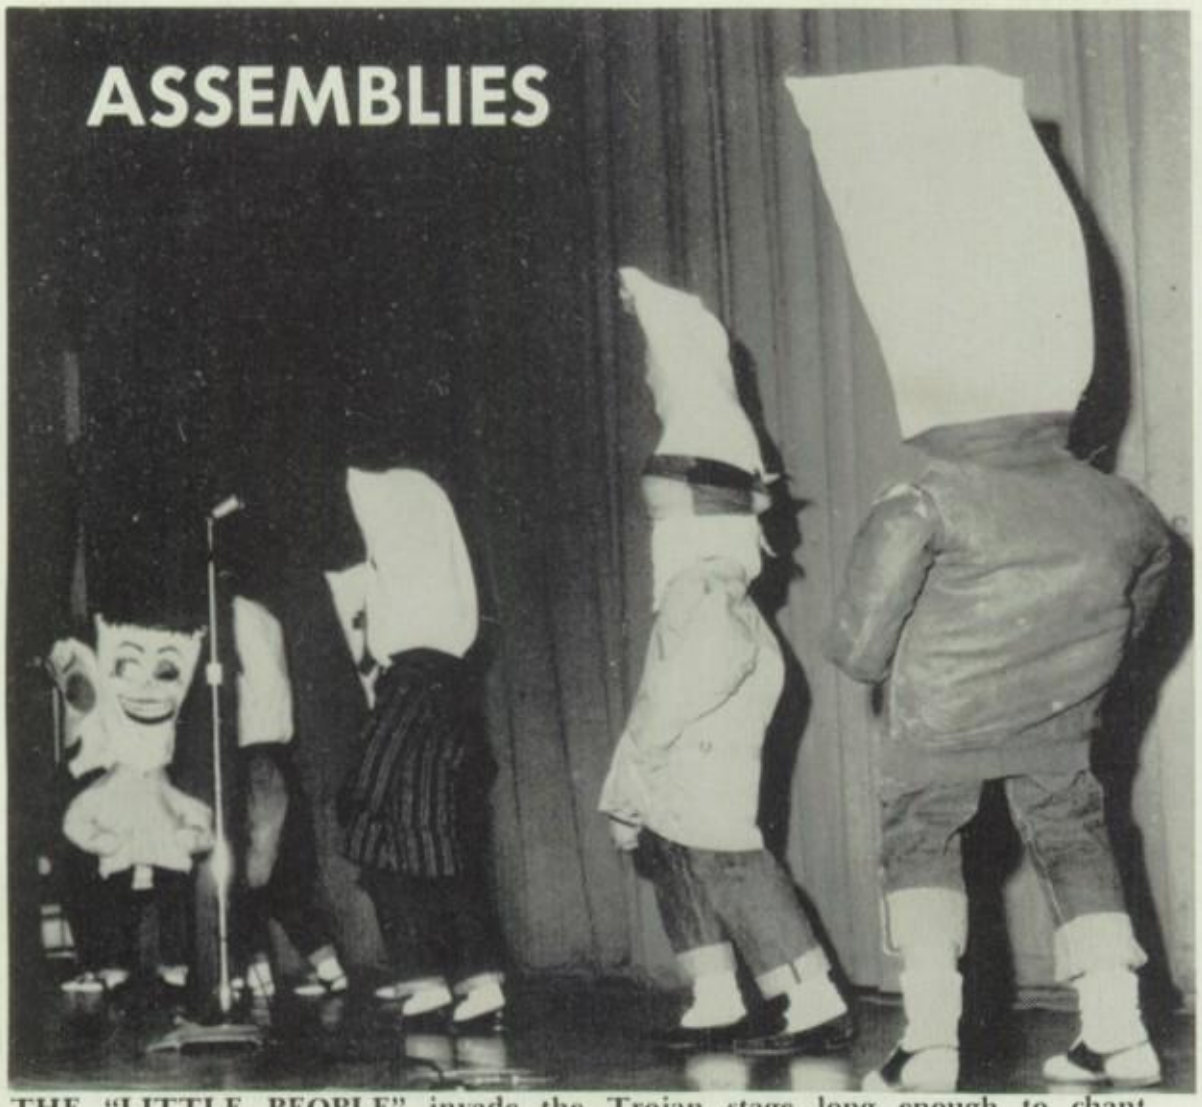
ASSEMBLIES



THE "LITTLE PEOPLE" invade the Trojan stage long enough to chant triumphs of the football team and captivate the audience with their antics.

FORMER TROJAN, Dixie Cook, skillfully executes a modern dance interpretation.

MR. HENSON and his guest, Superintendent Godwin, applaud a performance of the Glee Club on the Trojan stage.

CAROLYN HOUSEWORTH assists big game hunter, William Willett, by modeling the typical dress of an Indian woman of high caste, a beautiful blue sari.

A CAN-CAN DANCE brings enjoyment for all—especially when the dancers are Sherry Feaker, Mary Ann Redman, Sherril Murrow, Wally Sue Wallace, and Lois Straily and the event, an assembly.

WEARING the head dress of the Laplanders, Charles Strong promoted "hands across the border" understanding with explanation, anecdote.

From 'Pledge' to Singing We Loved Each Minute

"ASSEMBLY SCHEDULE Today" never failed to bring smiles of anticipation to Trojans as the welcome words were read from the morning bulletin.

Aimed to interest all students, there was everything from Bach to Bop, snakes to sabres, and spelling to spoofing. Speakers and world travelers held audiences spellbound; talented alumni and fellow-Trojans sang, danced, and electioneered. Enthusiastic pep assemblies taxed the accoustics while the quiet of prayer and dedication was sometimes breathlessly felt.

"PLEASE don't eat me!" pleads Little Red Riding Hood's grandmother. "I'll give you all of my WPA favor tickets if you let me go!"

"PERFORMING in perfection" is Topeka High's versatile choir under the direction of Mr. Elbert Fly.

Trip to Snow Queen's Court Lends Holiday Enchantment

HIGHLIGHTING the festive holiday season came the memorable silver anniversary of the All-School Christmas Party. A delighted audience shared the adventures of two small children in their dream of Fairyland's lovely Snow Queen's Court.

Enchanted by the land of love and beauty, they were charmed with the songs, dances, and talents that the elves presented as homage to their Queen.

Then the anticipation of the long-awaited moment became a realization as the spotlight focused on Troy's royal assemblage while King J. B. Bowers placed a beautiful crown on Queen LaDene Gurss.

Trojans were received by the royal party in the cafeteria ballroom and danced in a glow of blue and silver to music of the Hi-Fi's.

All in all, it was a "Moment to Remember" —glitter, fantasy, and holiday spirit.

OUR SYMPATHY goes to Bob Swan, or should it go to his date, Ruthie Briscoe for adaptability?

ADDING DELIGHTFUL atmosphere to the program are singers Bonnie Ward, George Hopkins, and Vickie Loebsack. Looking on are Carolyn Rowles, Trish Kennedy, Ned Rafter, Joyce Taylor, Marcia Myers, Kathy Hill, Tammy Fraker, Nancy Jasperson.

WITH CONTAGIOUS pep and enthusiasm A-Team and B-Team cheerleaders led us in assemblies, pep rallies, varsities, and of course the many football and basketball games. Their tireless efforts and constant smiles helped boost and maintain Topeka High's buoyant school spirit.

These Trojans devoted time before and after school perfecting old cheers and developing new ones to spur our teams to victory. During the summer they attended a Cheerleaders' Clinic in Dallas, where they met other girls from all over the country and picked up ideas for cheers and skits.

Trojan cheerleaders took several firsts in their performances before the clinic members. As co-sponsors, Miss Aley and Miss Larmer should receive special recognition for priceless patience.

Yes, Topeka High is fortunate in having twelve such outstanding girls to help hold high the Trojan tradition of good sportsmanship and spirited leadership.

'Marching Along Together' Could Be Theme of Boosters

IN A YEAR when "togetherness" was emphasized in song, movie, and idealism, the Trojan Pep Clubs exemplified coherence in all their activities both in spirit and active participation.

Girls, in traditional black, gold, and white, sold game ribbons, learned marching formations, waved pompons in unison, and seemed well indoctrinated with Trojan Spirit. An additional school service was the redecoration of the main foyer window.

Boys, in white shirts and new-style caps, led the male population in both noise and enthusiasm. It has almost become a slogan these days—"If you want to belong to Troy and have it belong to you, join the Pep Clubs!"

Bad Luck Hurt Trojans; Outlook Better for '59

COACH OTTO BODENHAUSEN'S football squad had one of the poorest records the Trojans have had in several years. Playing one of the toughest schedules in the state, the Trojans compiled a record of two wins, six losses, and one tie. Among Troy's opponents were Lawrence and Ward, which were rated as the top two teams in the state.

It seemed that coaches Bodenhausen and Larry Reid could not find a suitable team without something happening that would cause the next week's lineup to be different. This seemed to be one of the causes that gave the Trojans a lack of unity and team spirit which the year's record shows.

TYPICAL SCENE of worry as evidenced by the benchmen.

B. Bowers, C. C. Franklin, Lynn Griswold, Ralph Longstaff, Kim McCoy, Max Johnson, Jerry Hawver, Kenny Perry, Gary Hayes, and Randall Boyett.

Victory marked the start of the 1958 season with Kenny Tew handing off cleverly to halfbacks Larry Murray and Kenny Perry to score twice on the first two offensive plays of the year against the Highland Park Scotties. The Trojans kicked off to open the game, but Highland Park fumbled the return, and guard Gary Hayes pounced on the ball to recover on the 23. Murray broke over for the tally, and five minutes later Perry emulated Murray for a 53-yard run to score leaving a 13-0 lead. The fired-up Scotties fought back to tie up the game, but Junior Quarterback Curt Miller threw a surprise pass to Murray, the first and last aerial attempted by the Trojans all evening, to win the game 20-13.

The next game of the season was the Sunflower league opener against Shawnee Mission North. Although rated to win, the Trojans suffered one of their worst defeats of the season, for it seemed the Indians had not forgotten their loss to Topeka last year. Early in the game Perry scored for Troy and from then on it was all Mission North as they plowed through to bring the final score to 24-6 in their favor.

Trojans Fall to Lions; Win Over Washington

THE WORST DEFEAT of the year came at the hands of the State Champions, the Lawrence Lions. Time after time bad breaks either enabled the Lions to score or kept the Trojans from scoring. Kenny Perry scored the only touchdown which climaxed some excellent ball handling by senior quarterback Kenny Tew. The game ended 33-6 in favor of Lawrence.

As the season progressed, the Trojans picked up a league victory over Washington High School. The combined efforts of the Trojan backfield produced 24 points, while the Trojan defense held the Washington attack scoreless throughout most of the game. In the last minutes of the game, Washington managed to score on the Trojan second string. Final tally was 24-6.

THE HEART-BREAKER of the season came against the Salina Mustangs. Both teams had well-balanced ground gaining attacks with extra points proving to be the difference between defeat and victory. Four Trojan starters missed the game due to injuries. The Mustangs scored on a pass play after the gun had sounded, ending the game with the score at 27-25, Salina on top.

Wyandotte, the Sunflower League Champions, spoiled the Trojan Homecoming. Completely dominating the game, the Bulldogs scored twice in the first half and once on a pass late in the game to build a score of 20-0. Backs Carl McDonald and Claude Allen provided the few bright spots in a game in which the Trojans were just outclassed.

For the second straight year Troy was beaten by their downtown rivals from Hayden. Late in the first half the Wildcats scored. That was the ball game as the score stayed 6-0 for the rest of the contest. In the second half Troy perked up and controlled the ball but was unable to score.

Answering the call, the Trojan line blocked East's extra-point attempt to save the game from being a loss. At the gun the score was still tied. Troy's true team spirit came forth to produce one of the finest games of the year.

The final contest of the 1958 season pitted the Trojans against the number two team in the state. The Ward Cyclones, who were undefeated, had little trouble with the Trojan defense, but Troy was one of the few teams able to score against them. Ward's offensive attack netted a total of 32 points while their defense held to only seven. The Trojans played one of their best games of the year, but Ward proved to be too much.

COMPOSED OF Sophomores and Juniors, the Trojan B-Team had a winning season with a record of three wins, two losses, and one tie. Coached by Wiley Alberg and Bob Jennings, only the Sunflower teams, Shawnee Mission North and Wyandotte, and Lawrence gave the B's trouble. Many of the B-Team players also played varsity football which will give added strength next year. With the B-Team and Sophomores having such fine seasons, and with the large number of returning varsity players, it looks like the 1959 season will be much brighter than 1958.

Fine Season for Sophs; Sunflower Foes Dropped

TOPEKA HIGH'S Sophomores had a fine season losing only two games while winning five under the coaching of Chet Davenport and Jack Dean. Having a slow start, the Sophs dropped their first two to Atchison and Seaman, then won five straight. Several players saw a lot of B-Team action while one, John Nunley, saw enough varsity play to earn a letter. Showing promise for a fine 1960 season, the Sophs polished off two Sunflower league foes. In the past six seasons Trojan sophomores have compiled a great record of 30 wins and three losses.

Trojans Collaborate On Traditional Rites

TROJAN HOMECOMING celebrations began with an enthusiastic pep rally around the bonfire at Chandler Field the evening before the football game with Wyandotte.

A trio of queen candidates, nominated by the football team and pep clubs, were introduced at the Homecoming assembly. They then took their places in new convertibles to lead the annual parade through downtown Topeka as eleven elaborate floats depicted the Trojan interpretation of football prowess, "Licking the Bulldogs."

The excitement of a busy week of preparations was brought to a climax as the queen was hailed at half-time ceremonies. Escorted by Bob Meinershagen and Ron Hodges were the attendants, Kay Christenson and Joan Watts. Her Majesty, escorted by Tom Latter, followed them through an arch formed by Honor Pep members to ascend the dais and await the coronation.

Lights dimmed and the notes of "All the Things You Are," played by the THS band, slowly drifted on the cool evening, and Mr. M. J. Whitson, assistant superintendent of schools, officially crowned Nancy Jasperson as Topeka High School's Homecoming Queen of 1958.

QUEEN-TO-BE Nancy Jasperson, in her beautiful violet gown, starts up the aisle on Kenny Perry's arm as the audience applauds.

Deanmen Set Good Record

THE TROJAN BASKETBALL season got off to a fine start just before the Christmas holidays with victories over Salina and top-ranked Wichita East. The first loss of the year came at the hands of Shawnee Mission North. Victory over Lawrence boosted the Deanmen's morale only to have Washington and Wyandotte ruin all hopes for a league crown. Washington crushed THS 45-31 and Wyandotte 63-44. Arch-rival Highland Park fell under a spirited attack which launched a six-game winning streak including victories over Washington, Shawnee Mission East, Hayden, Emporia, and Shawnee Mission North.

Parsons stopped the march in a Trojan off-night, 50-40. Then the Wyandotte Bulldogs, in their return match, met a different team from the one they had downed by 19 points. Staving off a rally in the final seconds, they won 53-51, but it was a fine Trojan attempt. Troy ended the scheduled season in fine style with wins over Highland and Shawnee East.

Topeka went into the regionals in a Friday night opener with perennial foes on the Lions' home court and they dropped the game 49-46. Lack of team spirit due to the Lawrence defeat allowed Hayden, a team previously beaten by 22 points, to edge the Trojans 51-46. This left the final record for 1958-59 standing at 11 wins and 7 losses.

B-Team, Scrubs Excell; End with Good Season

TROY'S B-TEAM, coached by Wiley Alberg, had a very successful year losing only four games while winning eleven. Top teams in the state fell to the sharp shooting B-Team. Wyandotte, Parsons, Shawnee Mission North, Washington, and Emporia all felt its rath. Offensively the team was very strong for they averaged 44 points a game, while defensively Alberg's boys held the opposition to 37 points. This year showed marked improvements in the B-Team record leaving next year's ballhandlers considerably strengthened.

TROJAN SOPHOMORES, coached by Chet Davenport once again had a winning record. Playing a total of eleven games, the team won six and lost five. The roundballers developed fine ball handling and a well-balanced scoring attack that will leave Topeka in fine style for the 1959-60 basketball season.

OFF to the game! Cheerleaders did a good job in bolstering team spirit all year.

HIGHLIGHTED at the close of the Queen of Courts assembly three beautiful candidates stood to accept the traditional serenade. Linda Gordon, Marcia Myers, and Mary Brison with their escorts, Max Johnson, Jerry Adams, and Jim Dumas, basketball squadmen.

St. Valentine Smiles On Trio of Lovelies

THE LONG ANTICIPATED day of Queen of Courts began with a clever assembly program based on a "typical" Russian report of the "disadvantages" of our way of living. As a climax, the three candidates and their escorts came down the long aisle of Hoehner Auditorium to the strains of an organ salute. The entire student body took particular delight in the presentation because for the first time the royalty was their choice.

At the halftime ceremonies, the 1959 Queen, escorted by Ron Hodges, and her attendants walked through a great heart of bouquet-carrying Pep Club members. Tom Latter escorted Linda Gordon, and Tom Mistler, Mary Brison to their places of honor.

Troy's beautiful new symbol of royalty, a gem-encrusted crown, was placed on Queen Marcia's head by Governor George Docking.

Following the basketball squad's gift of a victory over Shawnee Mission North, the varsity in the cafeteria celebrated the event with the Queen and her Court seated in a bower of hearts and flowers. In the romantic setting they were serenaded with "Too Marvelous for Words", received autographed basketballs, and ruled over hundreds of loyal subjects for an evening of fun and laughter.

A MOMENT TO REMEMBER. Governor Docking places the new jeweled crown on lovely Queen Marcia.

Harriers Drop Times But Not Fast Enough

COMPETITION in this end of the state was just too tough this year. Showing one of the greatest improvements in their running times over previous years, the Trojan harriers were still beaten by the same four teams all year—Washington, Wyandotte, Shawnee Mission North and Haskell. It was these same four teams that took four of the first five places in the state tournament. So despite what the records show, Troy's cross country team ranks high in the state.

Don Warner and Dick Johnson, number one and two men on the squad, bettered their last years' times, Don by 40 seconds and Dick by 15. Bob Wright and Albert Scheibner will boost the prospects for 1959 with the backing of the juniors and sophomores in the B team.

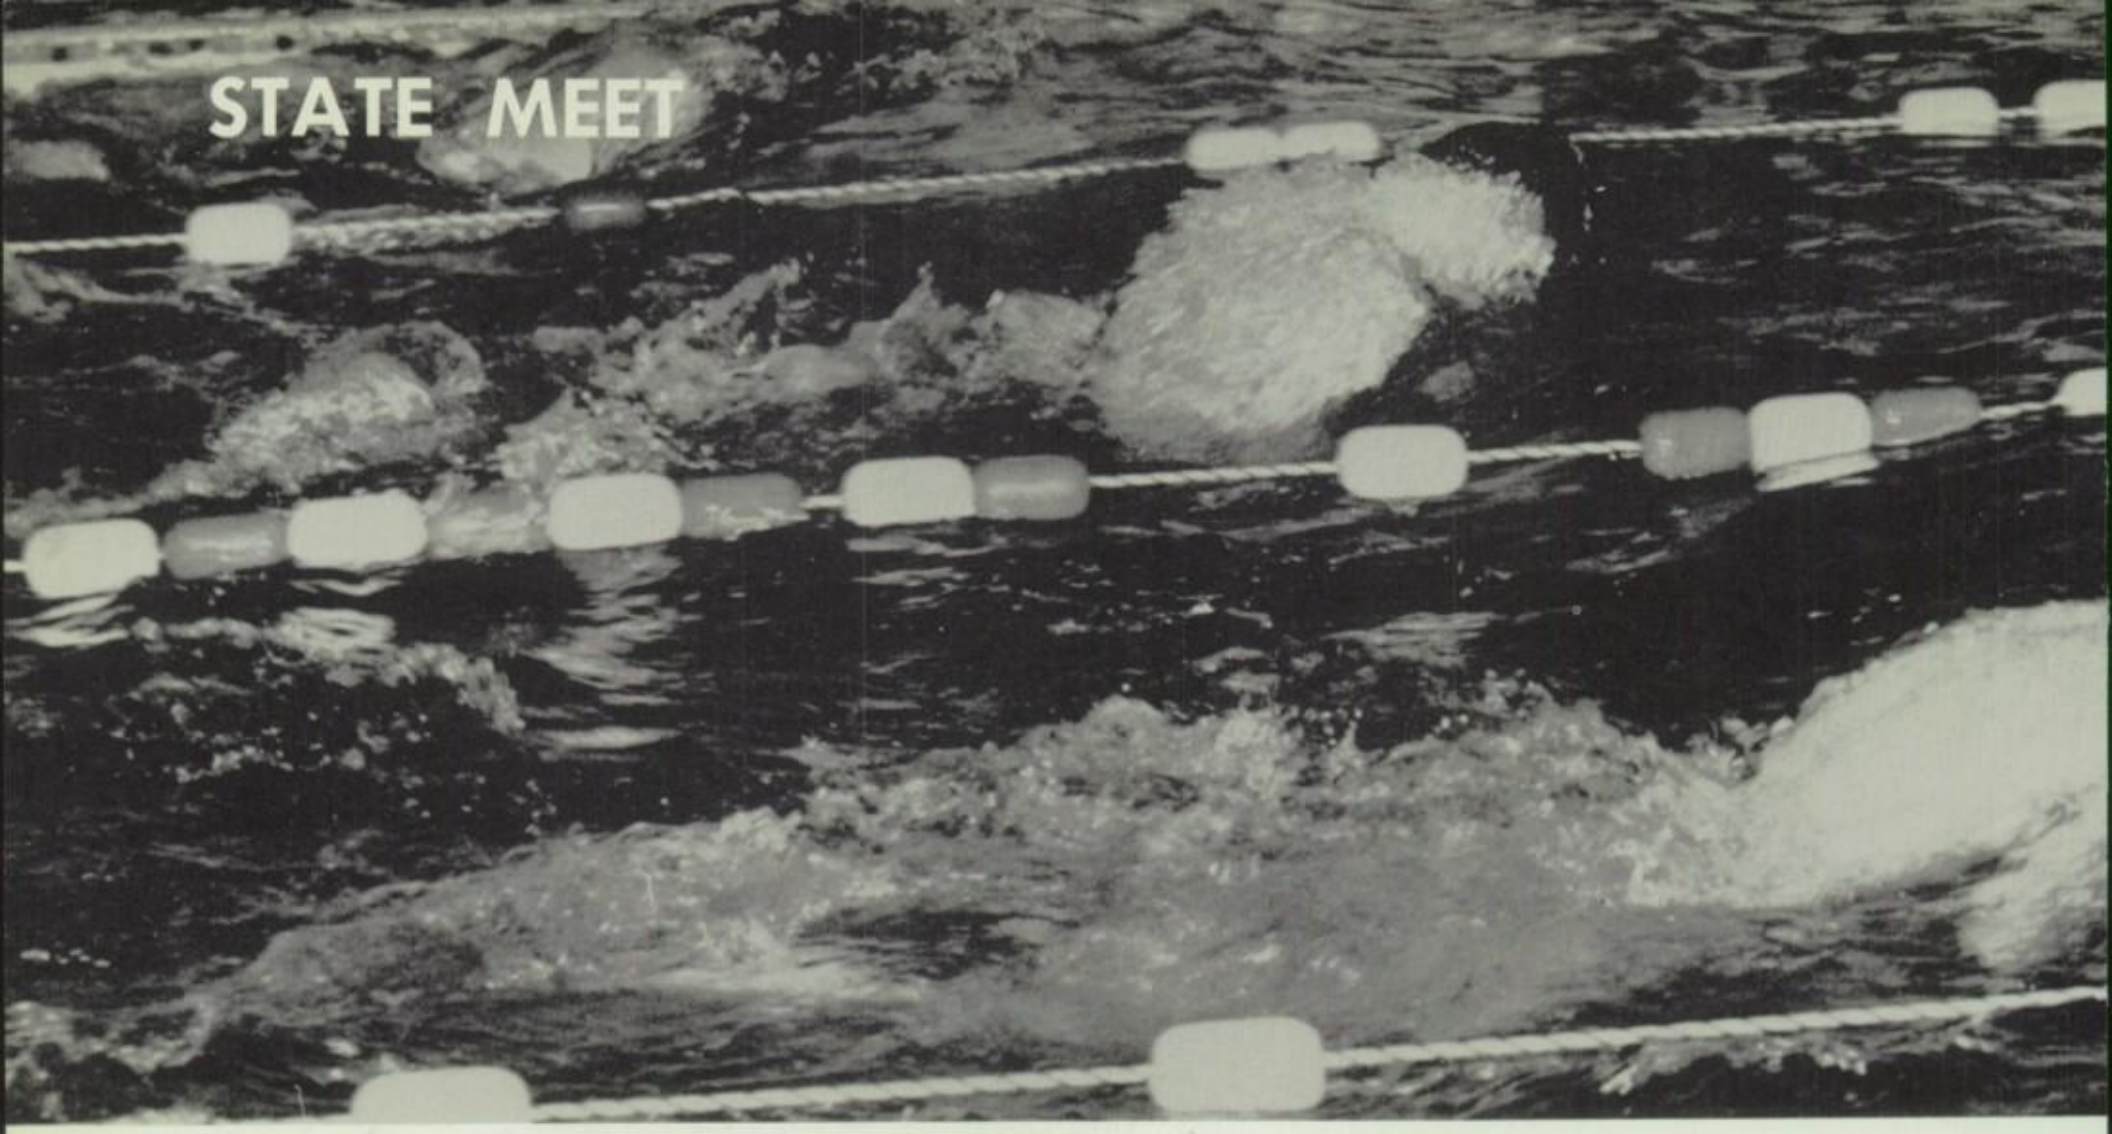
Victory for Swimmers! Desire, Courage Win

SWIMMING SHOWS once again that desire and courage can bring a team up from nothing to a power that only a few teams can conquer. The senior swimmers have been with Coach Laney for his first three years. Team spirit and tradition has sturdily developed under his coaching.

Turning in a fine record of 12 wins and 4 heartbreaking defeats, the team downed all foes except Boy's Town, the Nebraska swimming champions, Wichita East, State Champions for the last six years, and two defeats to Troy's nemesis, Wyandotte. Laney hit the water with the first victory over Wyandotte in the history of swimming, but Troy twice more failed to drop the stubborn Wyandotte Bulldogs, each time by one race.

RECORD BREAKING Freestyle Relay Team: Bill Mills, Tom Clark, and Steve Howes with Pete Barham overboard.



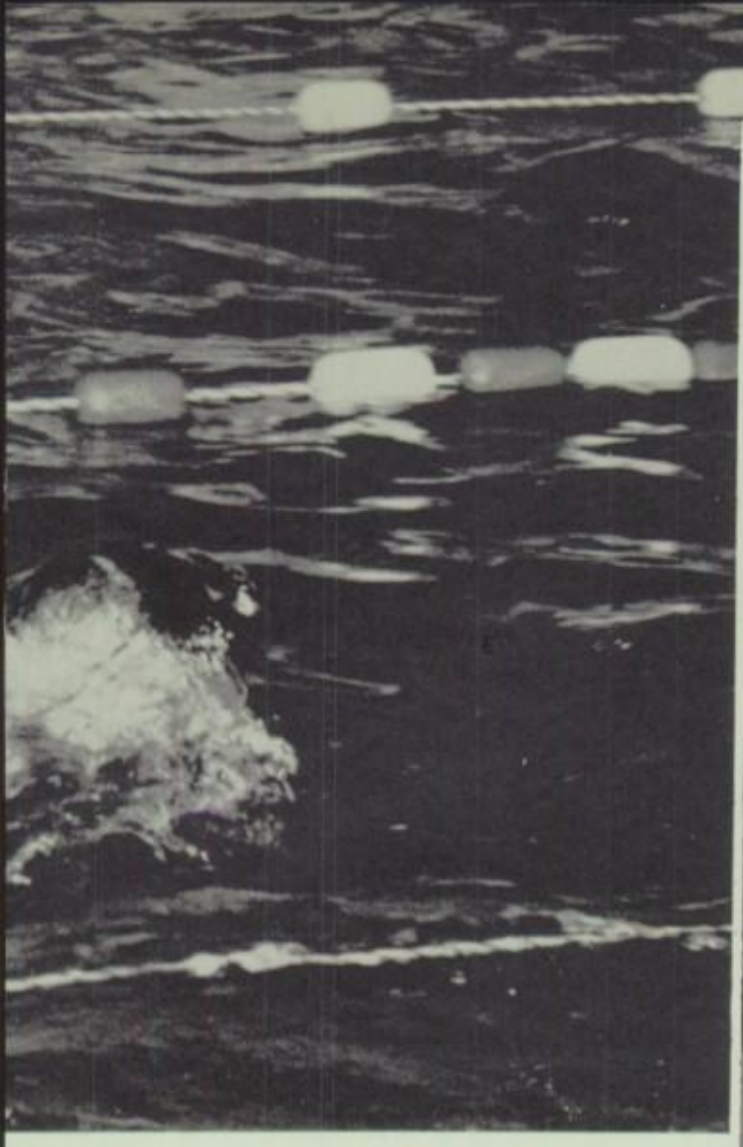
TEAM MEMBER J. B. Bowers (center) fights for third place in the Medley Relay.

BANG! Pete Barham off to a new state record.

Individuals Take Honors; Set Standards for Troy

STANDING ON THE GREATEST competitive record in Topeka High, the swimming team indeed has the right to be proud. The tension of having the state meet here this year seemed to take its toll. The first night in the preliminaries everybody but Bill Mills and J. B. Bowers turned in top performances. Pete Barham broke the state record by five-tenths of a second and is now only three-tenths of a second off the national record.

The freestyle relay team, under the state record five times this year, will have all of its components back next season except Steve Howes, co-captain. Don Pfuetze, the other co-captain, tied for third in the state against his arch rival from Wyandotte improving his standing from fifth place last year against the same swimmers. Steve Sanneman and Preston Hoyt both placed in diving in the annual meet. The medley relay team composed of Bob Schneider, J. B. Bowers, Don Pfuetze, and Tom Clark placed third for Troy in rugged competition.



TOPEKA'S strength grows as individuals now place in the state meet and hopes soar as records tumble.

Grapplers Pin Foes; State Honors Gained

IN HIS FIRST and final experience as head wrestling coach, Mr. Jennings guided the squad to one of the most rewarding seasons in the past few years. The squad's record was three wins, three losses, and second place in the Manhattan Invitational. Two Trojan grapplers qualified for the State Tournament where Mike Harrison took fourth place and Roy Ridgeway lost a heartbreaker in the first round. Don Warner, who had the same bad luck as Ridgeway, lost only two matches the entire year, one earlier, and the regionals.

In the past four years more and more boys have come out for wrestling. It is a sport where "the little man has an equal chance with the big," for competition is according to weight. Coach Jennings, who is becoming head football coach at Highland Park, will be missed, but he is leaving behind a large number of returning matmen to build on in 1959-60 with much promise.

575 Find Rewards Worthy of Efforts

WHEN THE TIME CAME to begin our senior year, we were filled with the anticipation of making it our very best. We accepted challenges by heading student government, directing plays, and holding important positions in other extracurricular activities.

Barbara Ossian represented Troy as an AFS visitor to Finland. Under the same program, Ayten Meric from Turkey and Jean Balmat from Switzerland are members of the Class of '59.

We have found the weeks filled with good times and new opportunities. Soon it will be our turn to step out into the world as leaders. Whatever lies before us, we shall never forget our three years at Troy, and especially our last and greatest, our SENIOR YEAR.

WHERE DID THE LITTLE ball bounce? Good sport Kenny Tew was completely mystified by Mr. George Jason's acts of legerdemain which were completely obvious to the audience. The entertainer is a well-known stage and TV star.

Sponsor .....Mrs. Summers

EVEN "DIGNIFIED" Junior officers can't resist the first snow of the season. Carl Johnson, John Ekdahl, Patty Cain, Sherry Woerner, Martha Peach, Bob Swan, (kneeling) Kirby Deeter get set to throw.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PROM coming up! Bob Swan, Mrs. Summers, and Martha Peach met many times to review records of parties from previous years so that the 1959 event would be completely original.

Secure and Serene, They Look to Future

THE TIME had come at last! They were no longer scrubs! With this new prestige in mind, the Class of 1960 began its junior year at Troy. Although the newness of belonging to a great school was gone, the thrill was still with them as they continued to hold a strong position with a first-prize Homecoming float in early fall competition.

Their accomplishments did not end there, however. Throughout the year they added to their achievements through minor projects, club responsibilities, and the sponsorship of the hilarious comedy, Tish. Athletic prowess has been notable and the whole class, 755 strong, seems justly proud of itself.

The grand finale to the year as middleclassmen came with the success of the Junior Prom, and all now look forward to ushering at graduation ceremonies and performing in the traditional Daisy Chain at Moore Bowl.

GATHERED for a "fireside chat," the Sophomore class officers plan for an eventful year. Barbara Cooper, Ann Garlinghouse, Bob Wright, Ron Bliss, John Atkinson, Betty Bennett, and Andrea Gresser talk over their prospects.

CLASS SPONSOR Walterscheid sits in on an informal meeting with John Atkinson and Betty Bennett as the year opens.

'61 Class Organizes; Gets on Ball Early

WHEN THE MORE than 800 sophomores entered THS they were only "scrubs," an unorganized group still loyal to their respective junior highs. It wasn't long before the spirit and sense of belonging to a great school made them proud of their new surroundings.

The Induction Assembly unified them officially as the Class of 1961. They joined together to support their candidates in Election Week, thus learning for the first time the thrills of school and class campaigning.

As they began to settle into the new routine, their officers and representatives took their places in the Student Congress to help determine the administration of their three years in the Shadow of the Tower.

They joined clubs and took an active part in school affairs, having experiences and making friends that will endure for the next two years when they will follow their goals to become seniors and leaders in 1961.

The Editor Speaks

"An Example for Others!" That's us! Our last year at Troy has flown by and we seniors have led the underclassmen to our greatest year of all—'59.

* * *

Your yearbook staff has spent many hours on this production of a record of your school year. Hoping that you will always treasure it, we proudly present this, Your 1959 SUNFLOWER.

* * *

This school year began officially on September 5 when we entered the Halls of Troy for our last two semesters. Thrilled to hear again the chimes from the Tower, we let the music become a symbol of what we will long remember as Trojans.

* * *

Already steeped in a rich heritage, our beloved Halls of Troy initiated a new memento with the addition of an official seal and motto contest sponsored through Quill and Scroll. "From Our Tower to Our Goal" was the meaningful phrase coined by Jacque Ramsey with Lynda McCune designing the award-winning seal. Their names will long be remembered for their fine contribution to the traditions of our great school.

* * *

Getting off to a flying start in student government, the excitement of Election Week was somewhat tamed by Bob Meinershagen and Linda Swanson. Candidates were allowed only a designated amount of campaign material and itemized expense accounts were required. It was fun anyway—while it lasted.

* * *

Becoming a close part of all our hearts and lives were our two exchange students, Ayten Meric from Turkey, and Jean Balmat from Switzerland. We sincerely hope that their all-too-brief stay with us was as full of fun and interesting experiences as they had anticipated.

Courts was changed this year. For the first time, the pep clubs had a voice in the choice of royalty for the major events.

* * *

The fall evening of Homecoming was clear and chilly, but we all weathered the air to see the crowning of Queen Nancy. The royal trio reigned at the varsity following the game.

* * *

Troy's halls took on a gayer look every week when pep posters and banners adorned them. Again this year they were not restricted to the cafeteria area.

* * *

The seniors met on equal ground with sophomores and juniors at the 25th annual All-School Christmas Party and a gay time was had by all. "Snow Queen" provided a beautiful background for the coronation of lovely Queen LaDene and stalwart King J. B. A blue and silver decor created the proper atmosphere for the silver anniversary dance.

* * *

This was the third year that Washburn University courses were offered to two classes of seniors to help them get acquainted with college. English prose and astronomy provided for the various interests of those in the upper third of our class.

* * *

After a strenuous competitive season, debaters brought the round of tournaments to a close with six trophies. Still fighting for top honors, the district team took third place, bowing to Lawrence and Pittsburg who went on to the state contest.

* * *

As one of the "Top 38" schools in the nation last year, we once again rated high with seven finalists in the National Merit Scholarship program, the state winner in the Betty Crocker Homemaker contest, and a score of others. When the Summer Supplement is ready we hope to give you the complete record of the high accomplishments of our great Class of '59.

Charming Marcia captivated us all as sweetheart of the basketball team this season. Amid a heart formed by Honor Pep, Governor Docking crowned her with a rhinestone tiara recently purchased by Rep Council.

* * *

Career Day was bigger and better than ever this year. Panelists from many fields gave us valuable information to guide us in our future planning.

* * *

"Carousel" was the lively musical which kept us involved in a nicely woven plot. Girl Friday, Jo Ann Jellison, was truly "An Example for Others" as she willingly learned the lead in four days when Mary Breithaupt became ill. Coming back onto the stage as a real trouper, Mary sang the part of Julie at the final performance.

* * *

Will anyone ever forget the antics of the characters in "Tish"? The cast must have had as much fun as the audience did. "Mousetrap" gave us all the proper shudders of an Agatha Christie mystery plot and we were glad to see the villain get his due. Then "Pygmalion" finished out the season in a splendid and colorful manner.

* * *

Bathing beauties this year were masculine in the mock Panhellenic Fashion Show. We all caught the hilarious spirit of the occasion as our own dashing boys became models-of-the-hour.

* * *

Haphazard planning caused a busy and hectic night March 6. The regional basketball tournament, the New York Dance and Drama Club, and the senior boys' party presented quite a conflict for loyal Trojans. In an effort to spark enthusiasm, Coach Dean was outspoken in regard to school spirit, and Honor Pep attended the game, following it with other activities.

Continued from page 264

Two clubs came to the fore this year, Squid Club and Safety Club. Both have forged ahead to gain prestige in Troy's host of extra-curricular activities.

* * *

High enrollment brought new equipment to Troy in the form of two laboratory rooms. A ceramics workshop and an additional biology lab partly cared for special interests. Reviving an old custom, we had a homeroom schedule every day, including assembly days and Fridays.

* * *

These reminiscences are of only a few of the brighter aspects of this busy year for our Class of '59. We all will recall what means the most to us individually, in or out of the classroom.

* * *

Just as a football team experiences moments of anxiety and triumph, so has the hard working team that has built your yearbook. Serving as captain of our team of twenty-four and calling the plays was an enlightening experience. With this 1959 publication gone to press, all our thanks go to our efficient "coach," Mrs. Greer. With her capable briefing on strategy and framework, our team will always recall happy memories of our adventures in learning that can never be repeated.

* * *

As we seniors unite for a final "Hail and Farewell" on Class Day in May, it will be our last time to share our Trojan experiences as the class of '59. In the long procession to the traditional strains of "Pomp and Circumstance," we will realize the never-ending fun and learning experiences we have enjoyed in the shadows of the Tower.

* * *

As we cross this threshold in life, we look "From Our Tower to Our Goal." With diplomas in hand we will always be proud to have been Trojans today, and we will strive to be the leaders of tomorrow.

* * *

NEW DODGE CARS OFFER TOP VISION—
Low-slung, sleek, and practical, too, are 1959 Dodge Sedans like the four-door Royal. New placement of the rear-view mirror gives wider field of vision through rear window, allows greater range of adjustment for individual drivers. Side view dramatizes fin styling, unique treatment of tail lights, back-up lights. Glass area in Dodge cars is greatest in its class, offering true "control tower" visibility.

SENIORS Fred Martin, Henry Lautz, and Bob Harvey make sulphuric acid which is used in many ways by today's manufacturers. One important development is in its use in the process of removing rust from steel while it is being fabricated for the construction industry.

JUNIORS Danny Doyle, Larry Johnson, and Bill Medlock look at the whys and wherefores of the fuel pump in the physics class demonstration.

SOPHOMORES Susan Burrow, Carol Strobel, and Kathy DeWeese take a sharp interest in the biology show cases with their interesting contents.

Thanks to Everyone. . . . .

IT TAKES DOZENS of people working hard to make a yearbook. Without the aid of students, faculty, professionals, and business men our 1959 SUNFLOWER would never have been published.

We on the staff take this opportunity to say a sincere thank you to everyone —to the teachers who helped with photography set-ups in their classes and with departmental information; to the students themselves for getting their pictures at studios, in Room 206, or on the stage; to the club officers and the Homeroom Reps; to the Trade School photography personnel; to Mr. H. V. Lyle for the division pages and Mr. Kent Lyle for the color photo of Troy; to the ad takers; and most of all to the businessmen who see that in advertising in a high school publication they are reaching their future customers.

Thanks to our publishers for invaluable help. Their relationship with us seems more personal than the usual customer-professional one.

Thank you—thank you, everyone. You have helped us on the staff to look "From Our Tower To Our Goal" and truly you have proven yourselves "Examples for Others."

— The Staff

WHEREVER WE WILL GO, little bits and pieces of Topeka High will cling to us who graduate. These are the traditions that meaningfully tie the business of education to the art of living. The Halls are a part of us; the Tower is a symbol of our ideals; and the Chimes will ever ring out a prayer for our souls—"Dear Lord, Our God, Be Thou Our Guide. While Life Shall Last, No Foot Can Slide."
